CALLED TO ORDER

The Syracuse Convention in Session.

Much Advice Given to the Delegates.

Fairchilds in Favor of Forcing the Fight.

Much Depends Upon the Results in Chicago.

A Large Outpouring of the Democracy of New York to Protest Against Hill's Mid-Winter Convention.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 31.—The interest manifested in the anti-Hill convention today exceeds the wildest anticipations of those responsible for the call.

Delegates, as well as democrats having no official connection with the affiair, but coming here simply as lookers-on, have been pouring into the city since noon yesterday, and the hotels are entertaining a larger crowd than they ever did before.

The object of the gathering is two fold; first, to protest against the convention held at Albany in February, and which gave instructions to the delegates to support the candidacy of Hill at Chicago, and also to elect a distinct delegation.

There is a difference of opinion on the latter point among some of those responsible for to-day's gathering, but the majority are decidedly in favor of sending a delegation to the national convention, and they will have their way, especially as the call for the primaries distinctly stated that one of the objects of to-day's convention was the choosing of 72 delegates and 72 alternates to represent the democratic party of the state at the national convention.

Old politicians say that the attendance here is larger than at any other political assemblage held in this state since the Harrison-Van Buren campaign of 1840.

Over fifteen hundred people came in from New York and Brooklyn on special trains.

The Buffalo men are nearly a thousand strong with the Seventy-fourth Regiment band at their head. Rochester sends six hundred, and the Tilden club, of Jamestown, is here 150 strong.

The big Alhambra rink was not decorated very brilliantly for the convention. Three flags made the total of the stage decorations. One of them was draped over the chairman's table, one hung from the flies, and one was fastened against the surface of a lake which adorned the flat in the rear. Colored banners of cardboard marked the delegation divisions in the hall. Not a banner was hung from the roof or walls.

The doors were ordered closed against the public until noon, but the ticket-holders slipped in by twos and threes until 11:30 when the doors were opened. There was a rush of delegates and visitors and most of the seats were soon filled. The Cleveland fan was prominent in the delegates hands but many of the visitors took off their coats for comforts sake in spite to the presence of some ladies.

Presently the band struck up an operatic selection. Conspicuous in the delegates seats was Dr. Mary Walker in her brown frock coat and trousers.

Five minutes before noon almost every seat in the hall was occupied and visitors were seeking seats in the gallery. Some of the delegates had got toy crickets and their chirping was heard all over the hall. The heat in the hall was intense and the delegates began to shed their coats.

The entrance of John D. Kernan and Wm. R. Grace a few minutes after noon was greeted with rousing cheers, the delegates standing and waving their hats. Mr. Grace and Mr. Kernan sat down in the front row of the platform seats. Next to them were Mr. Kinney, of Oneida, Mr. Conway, of Troy, and Hon. Charles S. Fairchild, of New York.

At 12:08 when Mr. Fairchild stepped to the front of the platform to call the convention to order, the crowd cheered again and again. When quiet had been restored Mr. Fairchild said:

"On behalf of the provisional state committee, I call this convention of democrats of the state of New York to order." (Cheers).

Continuing, Mr. Fairchild reviewed in a few words the preliminaries which led to the holding of the convention, When the convention was called in February he had said that his only doubt was whether they would be able to find a hall large enough to hold the delegates, "and here you are in thousands," he said, "to do mighty wary for your beloved party." (Applause).

"Permit me to thank you on behalf of thousands of democrats in this state, who have sent you to aid this movement for the good of the democratic party; and let me hope that the course here may be as careful and as conscientious as the preparations have been, and that every man shall act as his conscience dictates, seeking only to do justice to all and asking only what he would be willing to grant. (Applause).

"We have only to assure the people that we mean this by adopting plans that will do more to aid the party than anything heretofore done for personal glorification. (Applause.) Again thanking you for your attention, I present, on behalf of the provisional state committee, the name of John D. Kernan, of Oneida, for temporary chairman."

Mr. Kernan's name was greeted with cheers and applause and enthusiastically ratified. Then a shirt-sleeved Oneida delegate proposed three cheers for Mr. Kernan, and the convention joined in them heartily.

Mr. Kernan said: "This convention is a halt on the march to the national democratic convention at Chicago of an army of 200,000 New York democrats and of as many more enlisted sympathizers. They go to wage war against their disfranchisement in that convention by leaders who have made unwise and crafty use of party machinery for personal ends, and who have overridden time-honored customs and usages of the democratic party.

"We claim under these rules our right to insist at Chicago that the call for and manipulation of the February convention was an abuse of trust and violation of democratic rights in this state; that its proceedings then misrepresented a large element of disfranchised democrats, and now misrepresents an overwhelming sentiment which since then has grown to vast proportions throughout the state.

"If our strength did not lie in the will of the people the sun would shine at midnight before the loyal democratic rank and file of this state would don the garb of contestants and give this cause the unprecedented growth of its clearly marked intensity of purpose.

"The people, neither disciplined, led, nor organized, are in this movement. That is its strength. They have risen in the might of their sovereign majesty for weighty reasons to let it be known that they rule; that they have no masters and that they want thier rights as democrats in every convention that undertakes to represent them.

"When the people are in this good mood it is generally found that a concession to them of the right of way is as prudent as though they were dynamite. The February convention was a mistake from every standpoint; in some aspects it was a crime, indictable at Chicago. No one before ever attempted to put the party in a hole by such a device as a February convention."

Mr. Kernan then reviewed the triumphs of the democracy in New York and continued:

"The disaster of 1888 came because the people did not at once see as they have since been learning more and more clearly to see, the right and wrong of this complicated tariff question, and because of the corrupt use of money poured out by the carnival of monopolists, trusts and manufacturers, who were subsequently rewarded by the McKinley tariff, which, as was inevitable, has already proved to be a disappointment even to them.

"The elections of 1890 were the first fruits of the tariff message of 1887, since then, and especially since the February convention did us the kindness to arouse the people to the situation and to the designs of party leaders, there has grown up in the hamlets, towns, counties and states a universal demand—which is now as broad as this union—that he who trusted the people and made the issue for the coming campaign shall be chosen to lead the people "out of the land of Egypt and out of the house of bondage," into which they have been led by republican misrule.

"If we are to fight our guns for all they are worth, who but Cleveland should command the battery; who should stand at the helm when the old ship sails into safe and pleasant waters in November next with victory's flag flying at her masthead, but he, who stood upon the prow, in the midst of danger, when the winds and waves of tempestuous days sought her destruction.

"Let us, then, push on our contest, prepared to abide by the results, and confident that it was of the democracy in this campaign that the poet sang when he said.

" 'These angry, struggling tides that seem,
In wayward, endless course to tend,
Are but eddies of that mighty stream,
That rolls to its appointed end.'

"Yes to its end—the platform, the nominee at Chicago and victory."

The audience received Mr. Kernan's remarks with the greatest enthusiasm. Laughter or cheers greeted every point he made. The references to the Cleveland administration were the signal for prolonged cheering.

Mr. Kernan finished speaking at 1 o'clock. On motion, H. D. Baldwin was elected reading secretary and James F. Condon recording secretary of the convention. The roll of the convention was then called. A number of substitutions were announced.

At the conclusion of the roll-call, Mr. Davis, of Tompkins, moved the appointment of a committee on permanent organization under the old apportionment. It was carried. Then Mr. Conway, of Rensselaer, moved the appointment of a committee on credentials and Mr. Kinney, of Oneida, presented a resolution providing for the appointment of a resolutions committee and providing that all resolutions be referred without debate.

Mr. Sunderlin, of Schuyler, moved the appointment of a committee to name delegates-at-large to Chicago. Mr. J. Ackroid, of Oneida, rose to a point of order. He thought the convention should determine whether it will send delegates or not. The chairman said that would be referred to the committee.

He put the resolution quickly and declared it carried. He then announced that the delegations would get together and name members of committees. He announced the meeting place of the committees.

Then he remarked parenthetically that every one would have a fair chance to be heard in the convention and if any delegate had any message to present from his constituents he would have an opportunity to do so. The convention at 1:27 took a recess.

Every one suffers from Catarrh in the Head. Those who don't have it suffer from those who do. It's a disease you can't keep to yourself.

Here are some of the symptoms: Headache, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid, and offensive; eyes weak, ringing in ears, deafness; offensive breath; smell and taste impaired, and general debility. Only a few of these likely to be present at once.

The cure for it—for Catarrh itself, and all the troubles that come from it—a perfect and permanent cure, is Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. The worst cases yield to its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties. A record of twenty-five years has proved that to its proprietors—and they're willing to prove it to you.

They do it in this way: If they can't cure your Catarrh, no matter how bad your case, or of how long standing, they'll pay you $500 in cash. Can you have better proof of the healing power of a medicine?

A WORD OF WARNING.

The Syracuse Courier Double Leads Some Advice.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 31.—The delegates to the "May convention" found some words of advice and warning staring them from the editorial columns of the Syracuse Courier this morning. They have had a great deal of advice thrust upon them since their arrival yesterday. The Courier suggests a new danger. In the same column in which it says that "nothing is clearer than that the democratic sentiment of the country by an overwhelming majority calls for the nomination of Grover Cleveland," it says that the convention was called to serve notice on the national convention that the February convention was not representative of the democratic sentiment of the state, and that having been accomplished, the convention has no further mission.

It continues: "It has been hinted that the scheme of the convention managers embraces in its scope the setting up of a rival party organization throughout the state. That, rather than the promotion of the nomination of any particular candidate, is said to be the main object they have in view.

"Forewarned is forearmed. Delegates from the interior have not, we assume, come to Syracuse prepared to take such a step as this. We adjure them to think twice before they are persuaded into so desperate an expedient. The perfecting of a rival party organization would lead to a train of evils compared to which even the sending of a rival delegation would be harmless."

Ex-Secretary Charles S. Fairchild said concerning the Courier editorial: "If we stayed here a few days more there is no doubt that there would be many vexatious questions propounded. Never was a convention confronted with such serious problems and yet I may at the same time say never was a convention's line of action plainer.

"As I see it, our duty is to represent the people of this state by holding as nearly perfect an organization as possible.

"Now in regard to our continuing the present or striving for a new state organization, I want to say that it will depend upon our reception at the national convention.

"If we are recognized we shall continue the present state committee.

"We do not believe that after recognition we would be hatching a rival democratic organization. It would be a representative organization and, in fact, is now. We are not fighting factionally and even if you put us on the plane of a contest we should be deficient in courage and unrepresentative did we not complete the work of this convention by completing a thorough state organization."

E. Ellery Anderson said: "I cannot see anything very pertinent in this. You might as well say, 'don't hold any convention.' Why should we not perfect a new and representative organization of the democracy to take the place of the snap organization which represents a few, and that few the worst element in politics in the state. We are the democracy. On that ground we stand and on that ground we call for representation."

Ex-Mayor Grace said: "I am of the same opinion as Mr. Fairchild."

Hon. William E. Maxwell, ex-superintendent of insurance, said: "We should proceed as if no other convention had ever been held. As we represent the democracy of the state we should complete our organization."

Hon. Norton Chase, of Albany, said: "We represent the mass of democrats in this state and we should properly recognize them by thoroughly orgainznig. If we do not complete our organization it will lead to serious results."

The delegates received some more gratuitous advice from the boys who parade the streets with Cleveland fans, crying: "Keep cool."

THE FARMERS IN EARNEST

They are Weary of Both Political Parties.

Wisconsin Tillers of the Soil to Express Their Protest at the Polls This Fall.

Washington, D. C., May 31.—Advices received from the officials of the Farmers' alliance here confirm the reports from Wisconsin that the people's party in that state, reinforced by the alliance and the labor elements, have decided to make a hot fight in the approaching presidential campaign, and the advices are further to the effect that Wisconsin may fairly be regarded as a doubtful state.

Thousands of farmers in the northern part of the state are said to have become tired of both of the old parties, and to be ready to go into the new movement and to support the ticket to be nominated at Omaha next month. It is said here that the alliance people in many states are decidedly friendly toward Secretary Rusk, and that should the Wisconsin farmer by any chance be given a place on the ticket to be nominated at Minneapolis it would not be surprising if he were indorsed by the Omaha convention.

CLAIMS SELF-DEFENSE.

Progress of the Willey Trial at Defiance.

The Prisoner Takes the Stand in His Own Behalf—The Arguments To-day.

Defiance, O., May 31.—(Special)—With the exception of four hours, the Willey trial continued all Decoration day. Much evidence was introduced in favor of Willey.

Prominent men who had known him all his life have testified to the good reputation he bore up to the time of the shooting. Others said Krotz was a very violent, high-tmepered man and dangerous when angry.

Harry V. Willey, the defendant, was put on to testify in his own behalf. He is but 27 years old, and has lived in this city nearly all his life. He is a graduate of the public schools of the city. When he moved into the Schneider property he had a right to the sole use of the barn, but afterwards leased one stall and the basement to Krotz, who was his next-door neighbor.

When Willey had the runaway he was driving one of Krotz's horses, which sustained an injury to the hoof in the accident. Willey then allowed Krotz to use his horse, and Krotz disabled it. Then Krotz wanted Willey to get him a horse out of the livery barn, which Willey refused to do, and from this arose the trouble. Krotz brought suit against Willey for damages to the horse, and Willey in turn gave notice to Krotz to vacate his barn.

The next morning while Willey was milking, Krotz attacked him, choked and kicked him and threatened his life. There were no witnesses to this affair.

Krotz had the barn locked with a chain and padlock, and Willey was unable to put his horses in. Willey, to prevent Krotz entering without his knowledge, put another padlock on. The previous day he got the revolver out of Prosecutor Woods' office.

On the evening of July 30 he saw Krotz going down to the barn. He followed, and when he got to the barn Krotz was in the corn-crib. Willey then unlocked his padlock on the stable part and asked Krotz to remove his. Krotz refused to do this and went to where Willey was, kicked him and jumped on him. Willey tried to ward him off, and failing to do so drew the revolver and fired. He then jumped over the prostrate body of Krotz and went to give himself up.

The defense then rested, and the state has called a few witnesses for rebuttal and for proving Krotz's good character.

The pleas will be commenced some time to-day.

THE JAIL BREAKERS.

Defiance Prisoners Would Like to Get Out.

Defiance, O., May 31.—(Special)—It was thought that all of the plot to break the Defiance county jail had been unearthed but it now appears greater than before.

Sheriff Ewing, through one of the prisoners, got to the bottom of it to-day. One prisoner told the sheriff to look behind a picture on the north wall, at the end of the corridor. He did so and found they had tunnelled through for a distance of eighteen inches and would have made their escape despite the watchfulness of the officials if the trusty had not revealed their plans.

By some source of information it has come to the knowledge of the sheriff that impressions have been taken in soap of the outside and corridor keys of the jail. These are now outside in the hands of accomplices.

The prisoners will be kept under close watch. Their game is up.

BEGINNING TO WEAKEN

Foster Comes to the Defense of Harrison.

Something Must be Done to Stem the Blaine Tide.

The Secretary Trying to Make the People Believe That Blaine Will Decline if Nominated.

Washington, May 31.—Secretary Foster expressed himself as follows regarding the political situation and the attidude of the president on the silver question:

"The present movemnet favoring Blaine for the republican nomination has its inception mainly with people whom the president has disappointed. I do not underrate Mr. Blaine's popularity with the masses. Because the opponents of the president are unable to unite upon a candidate they now take advantage of Mr. Blaine's popularity and are undertaking to force him to ignore his solemn asseveration that his name will not go before the convention. I do not believe Mr. Blaine has given encouragement to this proposed use of his name. To nominate Mr. Blaine is to run the risk of his declination, which, if it comes, utterly ruins all hopes of party success. It seems to me that an acceptance by him after the struggle that will have to be made to obtain the nomination, will surely make him a weak candidate.

"The time has been when Mr. Blaine could have had the nomination by substantial unanimity. The president has not been so desirous for the nomination as most people think. He has permitted his name to be used because, since Mr. Blaine's declination, it seemed to him that he was largely the choice of his party friends, the only condition that induced him to consent. Can any sane man now doubt for a moment that he can refuse further consent to the use of his name? I belive he has a majority of the convention, and I hope, notwithstanding the noisy demonstration against him, to see him nominated by acclamation. The only argument used against the president is that he cannot be elected, yet all admit that his administration has been a complete success. He has succeeded in securing the confidence of his countrymen of all shades of opinion to a greater extent during his administration than nine-tenths of the presidents before him. Every interest, great and small, feels perfectly safe in his hands. The public know that he is honest and possesses ability of a very high order. He passed the ordeal of one campaign which began without much enthusiasm, but which grew day by day. His utterances are always remarkable for good sense and admirable statement. We know he will strengthen himself, if that be possible, by every utterance he makes. We know he will emerge from the struggle without a blunder. Tell me if you can that such a candidate is weak in any sense. He has disappointed people, and who has not? He has made mistakes in appointments and he admits it, and he hopes to be able to correct some of them.

"In what I have said I have not alluded to what appears to be a real opposition to him by the people of the silver states. For some reason I cannot understand, he is classed by them as a "gold bug,' unless all men are to be classed as 'gold bugs' who do not believe it is a safe policy for this country, single-handed and alone, to adopt the policy of free and unlimtied coinage of silver. President Harrison is as far from favoring a single gold standard as is Senator Teller. It has been a part of my business, under his direction for more than a year, to do the preliminary work of arranging for an international conference on the subject of silver, believing that through it the troublesome question will be settled to the satisfaction of all concerned. I quote the following as an utterance of his in the correspondence relating to this subject:

"'It is the opinion of the president, and, as he believes, of the people of the United States, with singular unanimity, that a full use of silver as a coin metal upon a ratio to gold, to be fixed by an agreement between the great commercial nations of the world, would very highly promote the prosperity of all nations and all classes of people.'

"This is but a sample of many utterances of his of like import. How can the charge that he is a 'gold bug' be made in the face of his official declared position in accord with the one just quoted."

A BLAST FROM RAMSDELL

He Says Blaine Will Again Decline.

A Close Friend of Harrison Says He Will be Nominated on the First Ballot.

New York, May 31.—A special to the Herald from Washington gives an interview had by its correspondent with Major Ramsdell, marshal of the District of Columbia, and one of the closest personal friends of the president.

In the talk Major Ramsdell declared that Blaine would write another letter, in which he would again decline to allow his name to go before the Minneapolis convntion. The major closed the interview by saying: "You can put it down as certain that the president will be renominated on the first ballot."

STRICKEN WELLINGTON.

Another Terrible Storm in That Section.

The Damage Started by the Cyclone and Conflagration Completed by the Rain.

Wellington, Ks., May 31.—The most terrific rain that ever visited this section fell yesterday.

The water came down in torrents and the streets were running rivers in ten minutes and unroofed stores and residences were flooded, greatly adding to the misery and distress caused by the tornado.

Those who are homeless and had gathered among their scattered personal and household effects, found themselves yesterday without any dry clothing. Merchandise in the debris, which could have been saved with partial damage, is now ruined.

About twenty prominent firms occupying unroofed buildings and others in rooms which leaked suffered more or less damage.

THE CATTLE MEN AGAIN

They are Preparing for Another Raid.

Johnson County to be Placed Under Martial Law Until the Trouble is Over.

Douglas, Wyo., May 31.—Sunday night 17 men from Texas, several of them Mexicans, camped at Fort Fetterman, eight miles west of here. They claimed they were going to Johnson county to work for the George W. Baxter outfit.

The officers here became suspicious that all was not right, and yesterday obtained what seems to be positive proof that the gang is going to Johnson county to make trouble for the settlers.

Rifles and ammunition have been provided and sent ahead, and when the men reach a certain point they will be armed and equipped.

It is believed that small detachments of men have been sent into Johnson county at different points of the compass, and that the stockmen are preparing for another massacre of settlers.

Authentic information is also received to the effect that Senator Warren, who is now in Cheyenne, and Senator Carey, who has just left for Washington, have arranged to have martial law declared in Johnson county as soon as the trouble begins.

Couriers were sent to different points over the county to warn the people of the impending danger and the intention of the stockmen, and they will find the people of Converse, Natrona and Johnson counties fully prepared this time.

PALACIO MEN DESERTING

Rebel Forces Increasing Each Day.

Victories Reported on Both Sides.

Interesting News of the Fierce War Now Being Waged in Venezuela.

Valencia, Venezuela, May 31.—Palacio's soldiers are deserting, hundreds at a time, and joining the rebel generals and this causes the president much worry. The rebels are now threatening both Puerto Cabello and Laguayra. To prevent the capture of these two important seaports Palacio has ordered all of his available fleet to proceed to their defence.

The revolutionists intrenched near San Juan were attacked a few days ago by the government troops. After a fierce fight the latter carried the intrenchments and then set fire to the town.

To offset this nationalist victory a force of government troops was repulsed after several hours hard fighting by the rebels near Laguayra.

Still another fight has taken place between the opposing forces, the result of which is in doubt. It occurred at La Sinna.

The Spanish ram Jorge Juan went ashore off Punta Bravaell, but has been towed off. There is yellow fever aboard and deaths are occurring among her crew every day.

Word has reached here that Palacio has left Caracas to fight the revolutionists.

Caracas, May 31.—The finances of the country are in a terrible state and the wages of military officers, soldiers and other government empolyes are overdue.

Palacio has issued another manifesto directing the mayors of the various cities and towns to call municipal delegates to the capital to proclaim the new constitution and name their first president under the new order of things. He proposes to disrupt the nine existing states and to form twenty departments into a centralized republic. The official press endorse the manifesto, but the dictator's action is opposed by public sentiment. All who dare to criticise it, however, are immediately made to suffer by banishment or imprisonment.

Word has reached here of a lively fight south of this city. It is said the government forces were routed. It is also reported that a battle was fought near Bolivia in which the rebels were defeated. Another battle has been fought near Palmirito and resulted in a victory for the revolutionists.

BOTH FOR CLEVELAND.

Two Delegates from the Twelfth.

Congressman Outhwaite and Judge Evans Renominated at Columbus.

Columbus, May 31.—Delegates to the democratic congressional convention of the Twelfth district, compdsed of the counties of Fairfield and Franklin, met this morning.

Ex-Mayor Peters, of Columbus, was temporary chairman, J. B. Tussing, of Fairfield, temporary secretary.

The committees on credentials, permanent organization and resolutions were appointed, after which the delegates engaged in discussion of the various political topics in reference to candidates for the presidency.

The temporary organization was made permanent and the convention got down to work.

Congressman Joseph H. Outhwaite was nominated by acclamation for his fifth term.

Chairman Peters returned thanks in behalf of Mr. Outhwaite, who was unable to be present on account of a press of congressional duties.

Col. James Kilbourn, of Columbus, a large manufacturer, was selected as one delegate to Chicago, and Daniel Danehy, of Lancaster, was selected as the second.

Both are for the renomination of Grover Cleveland.

W. F. Kemmler was nominated for presidential elector.

James Carew, of Franklin, and Joseph Shillenbarger, of Fairfield, were selected as alternates to Chicago.

Resolutions indorsing Cleveland and Outhwaite were unanimously adopted.

The delegates from Franklin, Madison and Pickaway counties to the judicial convention of the third sub-division of the Fifth district this morning re-nominated Judge Eli P. Evans, of Franklin, for the third term by acclamation.

NEGROES IN CONVENTION.

They are Protesting Against the Lynchings.

The Black Men Have Assembled in Many Parts of the Country to Take Action.

Chicago, May 31.—In many parts of the United states to-day the colored element, responding to a call recently issued from St. Louis, are observing the day as one of fasting and prayer, with the view of staying the alleged tide of murder and lynching of colored people in the south. In this city there were services this morning from 6 to 8 o'clock in Quinn chapel, which was crowded to the sidewalk.

Additional services were also held at the same place this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. In the afternoon several members of the Women's Christian Temperance union participated.

To-night mass-meetings will be held at which resolutions denouncing the treatment of the colored people in the south will be submitted.

At this morning's services special prayers were offered for the protection of the colored race, and some of the speakers urged in their addresses that it was necessary to influence public sentiment against negro lynchings in the south, and that if protection against mob violence was not afforded the time might come when the race would be driven to the necessity of doing something more than pray.

SAVE US OR WE SINK

Harrison a Millstone on the Party's Neck.

Ex-Senator Platt Tells Why He Should Not

Be Nominated—But If They Nominate Blaine He'll be a Whole Stone Quarry on Top of the Party.

Washington, May 31.—Ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt, of New York, prominent among those whose slogan is "anything to beat Harrison," was here to-day stopping at the Arlington. He said: "I really know little about the political situation just now, as I returned but two or three days ago from a business trip through the south. Everybody knows that I do not favor the renomination of Harrison. This is because I believe it will be hard to pull him through. I am one of those who think he cannot carry the state of New York, and without that we will have hard sledding to elect our candidate. I have no personal quarrel with Mr. Harrison. I only seek the good of the republican party, and I believe we can find a man who will command many thousands, perhaps hundreds of thousands, more votes than he. I want to see Mr. Blaine nominated. In my opinion he will accept if the nomination comes to him, as I think it will, wholly unsought. He has said that he would not be a candidate before the convention, and this is true. He will not seek the nomination or lift a finger to secure it. He need not say a word. I believe a great majority of the delegates to Minneapolis, and of the republicans throughout the country, would name Blaine as their first choice. They know that with him as our candidate for president, victory would be easy against anybody the democrats might enter in the race against him. We might succeed with Harrison, but the result would be doubtful, to say the least. I cannot say that I am prepared to name my next choice after Blaine. There is in the party plenty of good material, plenty of men who are available and would command its united support. I have several in my mind, but if you will excuse me I will not name them now. It will be time to bring them to the front when we have to give up Blaine. He is first and foremost, and my belief is that he will be the nominee of the convention next week."

WILL DEACON GET OUT?

Paris Discussing the Question Just Now.

There are Many People Who Think He Should Serve Out His One Year.

Paris, May 31.—The question whether Mr. Edward Parker Deacon will be pardoned, is still a subject of interest, popular discussion and much diversity of opinion, the influences which were exerted against Mr. Deacon before and after his trial being adverse to his release.

The Gaulois to-day declares that one of the jurymen in the Deacon trial brought his colleagues to join him in a petition to President Carnot to pardon Mr. Deacon.

The majority of the jury declined to take part in any such movement, asserting that Mr. Deacon deserved to endure the full penalty to which he had been sentenced.

According to a dispatch from Nice, Mr. Deacon continues in the best of health. Many of the people, and especially the foreign visitors, would like to make a lion of Mr. Deacon, if permitted by the rules of the prison, but while Mr. Deacon is treated with every consideration which the rules permit, they are not relaxed in his behalf, and his friends and admirers are forced to content themselves with the privileges granted to the friends of other prisoners in the same position.

Mr. Deacon has heard indirectly, it is said, from his wife and children since his imprisonment, and it is reported that Mrs. Deacon would not be averse to a reconciliation, upon her husband's release. This, Mr. Deacon's friends say, is impossible.

NOT FOR JIM BLAINE.

Gov. McKinley Declares in Favor of Harrison.

He Will Vote for Him, and Expects His Renomination—So the Governor Told a Bee.

A dispatch was printed in some of the morning papers yesterday purporting to give the substance of an interview with Governor McKinley by W. H. Johnson, one of the delegates from the Zanesville district, in which it was stated that McKinley expressed his belief that Harrison would be renominated in case Blaine was counted out of the race. The interview further credits the Governor with saying:

"But it is wonderful how many men doubt that Harrison can carry New York or can be re-elected. It is also surprising the hold Blaine has on the country. I am in receipt of many letters from the people asserting that Harrison can not be re-elected. I myself have always been a Blaine man, and I look upon the Maine statesman at present as being mysterious as well as magnetic."

A Bee called on Governor McKinley at the Boody yesterday afternoon, and after he had read the dispatch he said:

"There is absolutely nothing in the reported interview. While I am under no instructions from Ohio Republicans, and could vote for Mr. Blaine, so far as this point is concerned, yet I am recognized as the friend of President Harrison, and I will vote for him in the Minneapolis convention and confidently expect to see him renominated. It is not necessary to add further."

In connection with the above the Bee has the following from the United Press giving comment of Mr. James Boyle, the governor's private secretary, on the matter:

Columbus, O., May 31.—Gov. McKinley's private secretary, James Boyle, was shown the dispatch from Zanesville yesterday stating that Gov. McKinley had pronounced for Blaine. Said Mr. Boyle: "I know that the governor intends to vote for Harrison, and that he fully believes the president will be nominated. While no man in the country has greater admiration for Mr. Blaine than Gov. McKinley, he feels that Mr. Blaine cannot afford to let his name go before the convention and will not do so."

THE RODGERS AT FINDLAY.

Findlay, May 31.—(Special)—The base ball season in this city was opened very auspiciously yesterday at the Leons' new park on North Main street. The Rodgers, of Toledo, succeeded in winning the first game from the home team, the Leons, in the morning, but they were not in the afternoon game, the score standing 20 to 1 in favor of the home team. Only seven innings were played in both games.

The Auburndales, of Toledo, play with the Leons in the near future.

SPEAKS FOR ITSELF.

The Work of Drs. Copeland and Bell Needs No Bombastic Assertion.

The Results Speak for Themselves—Patients Who Contribute the Testimony—Nothing in Test But Professional Ability.

It is the practice of those who can gain fame in no other way to announce themselves as the greatest in their line of effort. Drs. Copeland and Bell do not do this. They let their work prove their ability. They publish from week to week the statements of enthusiastic patients who have been restored to health by them and they do not attempt to traduce rivals or abuse people whose competition they dread. It is needless to say that their work is scientifically done. Being specialists in nose, throat and lung diseases, they do not advertise vegetable remedies or magnetic compounds or nostrums that will work a cure on sight. They simply state that they are physicians who are skilled in their work and who can accomplish what they start out to do. A word to the wise is sufficient. If these statements do not convince there is no amount of assertion that can. They submit the testimonials and rest their case on the results, so substantially vouched for.

SORE THROAT AND COUGHING.

Three Years of Constant Suffering From Catarrh—Relief and Cure

"My throat grew so bad it was difficult for me to talk distinctly, and I had a constant tickling sensation there, followed by a hacking cough."

How many victims of catarrh can say the same thing. This is the statement of Mr. Patrick Mahoney, who lives at the corner of Starr avenue and ———— street. He is an employe at Roth & Friedman's Knitting Mill.

"A severe cold and then other colds. This is the way it began. That was three years ago. My nose stopped up. There was a constant dripping of matter into my throat. Hawking and spitting almost constantly. Throat raw and sore. Coughing spells in the morning, raising a thick, tenacious mucus. Appetite poor, with indigestion. Sour stomach after meals. Food lay heavy on stomach. Bowels constipated.

"My throat grew so bad it was hard for me to talk distinctly. I had a tickling sensation there, followed by a hacking cough. I felt dull and stupid, and my work was a continual drag on me.

"A friend of mine told me he had been treated by Drs. Copeland and Bell. I went to them and placed myself under their treatment. From the time I did so I began to mend. By degrees my head was cleared; then my throat got well. Hawking and spitting stopped. The cough disappeared and now it bothers me little. I eat heartily and relish my food. My bowels are regular. I work with ease from morning till night. I sleep well and in fact I feel like a new man.

"This wonderful change has been wrought by Drs. Copeland and Bell. I give them this testimonial, hoping that everyone who is afflicted as I was will do as I did and be cured, for a cure is certain in the hands of these physicians.

AWFUL SUFFERING!

It Began Ten Years Ago—A Recital of Great Interest to Catarrhal Patients.

There are few people who could stand such suffering as Mr. James Crook, of Aloy street, West Toledo. Those who read his statement will be amazed. Said he:

"My trouble began about ten years ago. I suffered from repeated colds. My head stopped up and soon I found I could not breathe without fear of choking. Matter dropped into my throat and this caused me to choke also. There was so much of it I could not cough it loose or remove it in any way.

"I had headaches over my eyes and they were so bad at times that I was obliged to lie down. There was a scum in my throat a quarter of an inch thick. My throat would feel so bad at times that I would have to sip water to relieve it. A cough set in and it has been with me for three years. I would cough so hard, often, that I would vomit. I could not lie on my back for fear of smothering. I was ashamed to go into a barber shop, for my catarrh was so bad that I could myself detect the offensive odor.

"My chief trouble was shortness of breath, heart-fluttering and dizziness. I often staggered and seemed about to fall. I had sharp, shooting pains, stabbing like a knife, around my heart.

"The catarrh affected my hearing and I became so deaf that I could not hear the sound of a hammer when I was coopering a barrel.

"My appetite was poor. I had great pains in my stomach when I ate, and after meals my stomach was sour and filled with gas, which caused belching and bloating. My bowels were very costive and I had cold feet all the time.

"Well, I placed myself, after much persuasion from my friends, in the hands of Drs. Copeland and Bell. I was a hard case, then, and do not believe that I could have lived much longer. I have been under the treatment of many physicians, but no one ever helped me as Drs. Copeland and Bell have. Now my headache is a thing of the past, my heart is stronger and troubles me no more. My appetite is good and I relish my food. My bowels are regular, the sore throat has disappeared and in fact I feel strong and well and am like a new man."

This statement is signed and is given to the public as the free, candid and voluntary affirmation of a gentleman who desires others to profit by his example.

THE SPORTS OF ONE DAY

Toledo Wins One and Loses One Game.

Slavin Knocked Out by Peter Jackson.

Double Games in all the Cities Before Large Crowds—General and Local Notes.

Memorial Day in Toledo has always been an event in sporting circles, and yesterday was no exception. All of six thousand people saw the two game played. In the morning Toledo put Whinnery in the box and he lost his own game in the eighth inning. After striking the first two men out he sent two men to bases on balls, after which a succession of hits and errors let in four runs.

Clarke pitched the afternoon game and while he was hit hard and often, his work at critical times was up to his usual standard. The field play behind Clarke was superb, three double plays being chalked up to Toledo's credit. The scores of the two games follow:

The wonderful batting of First Baseman Breckenridge has caused considerable interest as to just what the big first baseman has done with the stick since the opening of the championship season. In the thirty-three games played by Columbus (one being a tie) Breckenridge has been at bat 113 times. He has made eleven home runs, one three-base hit, twelve doubles and seven singles. His batting average is .274 with a total of 78 bases, so that Breckenridge cannot be classed as a good batter.

Sporting Editor Bee: I noticed a card in Saturday night's Bee in which a citizen states he would like to see John Smith, Otto Whittman and C. Weil given a trial by the Toledo club, if any change is made. Well, I don't think the Toledo base ball club needs to be changed, in my judgment; they are good men, every one of them, and as I, one of the above mentioned, and as an amateur, and also in favor of Sunday ball, would regret to see the Toledo club changed. Let them alone; they are all right. I do not consider myself capable of playing in the class with Toledo. C. WEIL

There was some talk on the street yesterday that Fred Smith was going to pitch the morning game, and when the scorers sent out the name of "Winers" it seemed to be generally accepted that it was Smith. The day in base ball is gone by when jockeying is allowed. Had Smith pitched the game, no matter what the result, it would have gone to Ft. Wayne 9 to 0. Omaha long ago put in a request for Smith's services, and if he pitches for anybody in the Western league it will be for the Omahogs.

—::—:—

Toledo plays in Ft. Wayne today.

Armour is due to pick up his batting on the trip.

Toledo has the fastest outfield in the Western league.

Campion's drive over the fence was the longest of the season.

The boys go away from home confident of making a good showing.

Monday morning's game was a hard one to lose, but the fault was in the box.

The Utahs defeated the Pearls, Decoration day, by the score of 23 to 16.

Newell's play improves each day. He recovers himself after a fumble quicker than any man in the league.

Three home runs in one day is hitting the ball hard. Nichol, Newell and Campion were the boys who got them.

Good reports can be expected from the Toledo boys on the trip. They play better ball away from Toledo than at home.

London, May 31.—The National club was crowded to suffocation last night with spectators anxious to witness the Slavin-Jackson fight. The entrance became so much obstructed that the owner of the building refused to allow any more to enter without a ticket.

Two hundred policemen kept order outside the club, where a surging mass had assembled with the expectation of being admitted. Lord Lonsdale opened the proceedings with a speech and then the fight began. It was 11:10 o'clock when Jackson and Slavin made their appearance in the ring.

The usual preliminaries occupied only a few minutes. In the first round Jackson led off with a light tap on Slavin's body. Prolonged sparring then ensued. Jackson, though he did not hit with much force, kept his long left arm constantly in Slavin's face. Twice Slavin clinched and was ordered by the referee to break away. He then tried to land his right on Jackson, but the latter jumped away and the round ended very evenly.

Second round—The instant time was called Slavin made a savage rush at his antagonist; three times Slavin rushed to close quarters, with the same futile result. Jackson then took the initiative and drove his left and right in quick succession on Slavin's body. Slavin appeared to be tiring as the round closed.

Third round—Jackson kept prodding Slavin in the mouth and left eye, and the eye began to show signs of closing. Slavin always failed to land his dangerous right on his antagonist. In the last minute of the round a splendid rally occurred, when Slavin hit harder and Jackson struck more frequently. Both were hard at work when time was called.

Fourth round—Slavin was first to get to work. Every time he rushed in he met the negro's left, Jackson having a shade the best of the exchanges.

Fifth round—Both men fought through the round at a terrific pace.

Sixth round—Slavin worked Jackson into a corner and landed two heavy blows on his ribs. The negro jumped out and landed swinging left and right on Slavin's head.

Seventh round—Jackson time after time banged his left in Slavin's face, and before the round was half over Slavin's left eye was nearly closed.

Eighth round—Jackson was perspiring freely, but seemed to be fresher than his opponent. He again banged away and had the best of the round at the finish.

Ninth round—Slavin made a grand effort but received several more stinging left-handed blows on the mouth and eye. Jackson was shooting his right with great effect and had the best of the exchanges when the men were ordered to their corners.

Tenth round—Slavin came up very game, but he was weaker than he looked. After a few exchanges Jackson landed a swinging right-handed blow on Slavin's throat, sending him against the ropes. Before Slavin was able to recover Jackson was on him with both hands. Slavin became dazed from the effects of this terrible punishment. The negro fought him all around the ring and succeeded in knocking him out in the first two minutes of the round. Jackson was then declared the victor, amid terrific cheering.

Jackson tipped the scales at 193 pounds and Slavin at 185 pounds. Jackson's seconds were "Parson" Davies, Joe Choynski and Jem Young. Slavin's seconds were his brother Jack, Tom Williams and Tom Burrows. Mr. Angle was referee. All the arrangements for the fight were admirable, and the contest was one of the fairest seen in a long time.

An innovation was having the ring 20 feet in diameter instead of 24. Among the solid bets recorded are one of £500 to £200 on Slavin, made at the Victoria club, and one of £200 to £100, also on Slavin, at the Criterion.

This battle has been discussed and talked about for months by the sportsmen of England, Australia and America. The men are well known on three continents. Both men began their pugilistic careers in Australia. They have fought in America, and they have both whipped their men in England. The contest is of special interest in America, because of its bearing upon the championship of the world. Should Sullivan win from Corbett on September 7, the championship will not be affected, as Sullivan claims he is too good to fight a colored man. If Corbett should win he will doubtless be called upon to meet Jackson.

Jackson and Slavin have been matched to fight before. The arrangements were made before the men left Australia, but they have never faced each other in the ring up to date. It is claimed that Slavin was the cause of the failure of each match. They have both fought and whipped the same class of men. As a rule Slavin has put his men to sleep more easily than the dusky fighter has accomplished the same feat.

The styles of fighting common to these giants are exactly opposite. Jackson takes things easily. He depends upon his cleverness and long reach to keep his opponent off. He relies upon his skill and powers of endurance to tire out his man. He can deliver a good stiff punch. He does not try to whip his man with a single blow, but by repeatedly landing on the vital spots. Slavin is a rusher. He sails right into his man. He has a powerful right half-arm blow that is capable of doing serious damage if properly landed.

The present match was brought about in a curious way. The officials of the National club of London have tried to get Jackson and Slavin together several times. Last fall Slavin began talking about fighting John L. Sullivan. He made a visit to this country with Charlie Mitchell and proclaimed far and wide that he would meet the American champion. When Sullivan's backers pinned Slavin down to putting up the money he failed to come to time. He took on the match with Jackson in a hurry and used it as a hedge, behind which he did his talking. He has tried to get out of his match with Jackson several times, but Jackson held to his end of the agreement.

At the close of the fight, Slavin, as he lay helpless and disfigured on the floor of the stage, appeared to be almost dead. He presented a cut-up appearance and showed very plainly the effects of the terrible punishment which had been administered to him by his antagonist. He lay motionless on the hard boards with his eyes tightly closed, his face badly swollen and discolored, and his body covered with the blood which flowed in crimson streams from the cuts caused by the sledge-hammer blows dealt by Jackson.

The latter, too, had lost some blood, and showed marks of the terrible encounter in which he had been engaged. He was in a comparatively fresh condition when the fight was over, and when Slavin had been officially declared "out" and Jackson had been announced the victor, the negro walked without any assistance from his seconds, and was apparently able to continue the struggle much longer.

Interest in the Detroit yacht race centered on the race between the Crusader, the Enright and Luly B. for the Brewers' Cup. Few persons expected any other boats would enter into this competition. As a surprise to every one came the performance of the Shamrock, which kept well onto the heel of the big boats and made an excellent finish.

The Crusador did some very good sailing. She crossed the line at 11:33:46 and started down the river at a lively pace in pursuit of the Fanchon and Enright, both of which had quite a start of her. She overtook and passed the former before Woodward avenue was reached, but the Enright showed her clean heels. The boats were watched by two of the judges, who followed on the tug Quickstep. No fouling was done, and all the boats turned the stake fairly.

The Enright was the first to turn the lower stake and start on the return trip. She lost some time, however, by going a good deal further below it than was necessary and then made slow time in getting around. The Shamrock followed her very closely and went even further down stream than she did. The Lulu B made the mistake of hugging the docks for the last half mile of the down stretch. This she did so successfully that she was away inside of Backus' lumber dock when she came round. She failed to take warning by the experience and repeated the movement on the second trip. The Crusader failed to pass as close to the stake boats as she might have but as soon as she came around Alex. McLeod, who was sailing her, put out his balloon jib and spinnaker. Both filled immediately and she started away like a race-horse. The sight was one to stir the heart of the oldest yachtsman to enthusiasm. As pride goeth before a fall, however, the Crusador was doomed. When about half-way up the balloon jib, which had been pulling hard for some time, gave way, carrying the foretopmast with it. It took several moments to get the canvas aboard and muzzle the pole and the yacht lost considerable headway while it was being accomplished.

In spite of this slight accident she gained well upon the Enright and gave the latter a lively race up stream. The Enright, however, retained the lead and rounded th ejudges' boat the first time at 12:35:34. The Crusader was only two minutes behind her. Here the Crusader again lost time as she rounded the stake very slowly. This was caused by the failure of the man at the centerboard to do his duty, Skipper McLeod explained later.

The finish was made in about the same order, the Enright crossing the line the second time at 1:35:45. On her heels came the Crusader at 1:37:58, and behind it the Shamrock at 1:39:28. Next in order came the Lula B., the Cora and the Fanchon. The Rambler was the last boat to finish at 2:48:44.

BRADY AND GARWOOD

Will Probably Manage Another Cleveland House.

A stock company has been organized in Cleveland to build an opera house on the east side of that city, where it is thought there is a paying field. Messrs. Brady & Garwood will be the lessees, and both gentlemen will be stockholders.

A GREAT TIME

Had the Cyclers at Detroit—Thirty-five Took the Trip.

The Cyclers have returned from Detroit and report the trip one of the best outings they have ever taken. The roads were smooth, the weather perfect and the entertainment given them by the Detroit boys fit for kings. About thirty-five Toledo cyclers were in the party.

THE ASHLEY CASE.

His Attorney Does Not Put in An Appearance.

In the case of Stephen Brophy vs. Chas. S. Ashley, the charge being assault and battery, it will be remembered, that after the trial Mr. Ashley was given time to file a bill of exceptions. The time of filing was set for this morning, but neither Mr. Ashley or his attorney put in appearance. The court allowed the matter to run over several days to give Mr. Ashley time to act.

THE BALL PLAYERS.

Their Case Will Come Up in Court Today.

This afternoon a case of unusual interest will be commenced in police court—the trial of the Sunday base ball players. It will be something in the nature of a test case, and the result will be eagerly looked for. The title of the case is the City of Toledo v. J. W. Gunnels et al. The et al portion of the concern is in other fields than Toledo, pursuing the peaceful occupation of playing ball, and not feeling a bit downcast over its sins. Byron Ritchie will represent the ball players. It is probable that nothing more will be done this afternoon than drawing a jury.

TREASURER KIRSCHNER

Has Submitted His First Semi-Annual Report.

Mr. C. J. Kirschner, supreme treasurer of the Catholic Knights of America, has had printed and is sending out his first semi-annual report for the term ending April 30. It is complete in every particular, closing with certificates of the bank cashiers that the funds to his credit in the bank compare with the statements made. A balance of $39,691.04 was on hand April 30. The report gives a minute account of all receipts and disbursements, and the document cannot fail to prove satisfactory to the entire membership. No mistake was made by the Knights when Mr. Kirschner was elected treasurer; he is system itself. The Bee acknowledges the receipt of a copy of the report.

AGAIN BROKE HIS LEG.

Horace Suydam Meets with an Accident at the Outing Grounds.

Yesterday at the Outing grounds, Horace Suydam met with an unfortunate accident that will lay him up for the greater part of the summer.

About a year ago he had a leg broken, and it was not quite strong. Yesterday, in running with a comrade, they clinched, and in the contest Suydam's leg was accidentally broken in the same place as a year ago. He had an engagement at Detroit yesterday, but failed to make the train. He had a second engagement that would have kept him from the Outing park had he kept it, but fate was evidently in league against him yesterday.

The fracture is a simple one, but owing to it being the second breakage it will take longer to heal than the first time.

THE CANOE CLUB

Enjoyed a Day's Outing With Races and Luncheon.

The members of the Toledo Canoe club and their ladies had an outing yesterday. They proceeded by steamer to Grassy Point in the morning. On their arrival a luncheon was served. Canoe races followed. The contestants were John Riser, the Clipper; C. Armstrong, the Mora; R. Dawson, the Due; Geo. Fry, the Artrenous; R. Ilett, the Mayflower; F. Briner, the Gem.

In the first race J. Riser came in ahead, closely hugged by Mr. Armstrong. Mr. Ilett was the winner of the second race, Mr. Briner second. The day's sport was brought to a close when it was no longer day. The party reached the city tired but happy at 9 o'clock in the evening.

TO BE CUT DOWN.

Salaries of Gas Trustees—Aldermen Adjourn Out of Respect to Dr. Jones.

The ways and means committee of the council met last evening and created something of a surprise by approving a resolution, introduced by Mr. Gill, to fix the salary of the gas trustees at $1 per year. The resolution was not discussed, but was approved by a vote of 7 to 2.

Harbor Master O'Connor asked that an allowance be made his department for the use of a horse. No action was taken.

The board of aldermen met, but on account of the death of Dr. W. W. Jones no city business was transacted. Messrs. Leroux, Graham and Hodge were appointed a committee to prepare suitable resolutions on the death of Dr. Jones and it was decided to purchase a floral tribute to be sent to the family.

The board also adopted a resolution to attend the funeral in a body and then a recess was taken until Thursday evening.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Initial Session This Evening at the First Presbyterian.

This evening the regular convention of the Lucas county Sunday School union will open at the First Presbyterian church, and will close to-morrow night. A half-hour song service, conducted by Prof. W. A. Ogden, will be followed by devotional exercises led by Rev. Dr. McGaw. "An Evening in the Holy Land," with stereopticon views, is the feature of the evening meeting, with Rev. D. M. Fisk as the lecturer.

To-morrow's proceedings will open at 9:30, and the participants, morning and afternoon, are Rev. W. W. Williams, Rev. G. E. Hiller, Herman Gross, Thomas J. ### AT MIDDLE BASS.

Visitors Dropping In—Fishing in Full Blast

On Sunday the steamer City of Toledo made the trip from Middle Bass isle to Toledo in two hours and 29 minutes.

The grounds about the club house at Middle Bass are looking beautiful. Quite a number of members are there enjoying themselves. Bass fishing has just commenced, and the fine steamer City of Toledo will carry passengers in quick time with comfortable seats.

Mr. H. L. Story, of San Diego, Cal., the gentleman who was instrumental in building the Coronada Beach hotel, is the guest of Mr. F. P. Isherwood. They made a trip to Middle Bass isle, and Mr. Story was highly pleased saying it was by far the most beautiful summer resort he had ever seen. Mr. S. has traveled very extensively through the United States and Canada and also through Europe, and wanted to purchase a membership at once.

The party chartered the steam yacht Leroy Brooks on a fishing excursion and caught 43 black bass about Horseshoe reef and East Sister island. Mr. Story thought the Brooks the most comfortable steam yacht for excursion parties. The Brooks can be chartered when not engaged, at reasonable rates from Count Rehberg.

DR. JONES' FUNERAL.

It Will Be Held Thursday Afternoon At Memorial Hall.

The funeral of the late Dr. W. W. Jones will take place from Memorial Hall Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The remains will be taken to the hall at 10 o'clock and will there lie in state to give friends an opportunity to pay their last tribute of respect. Rev. Dr. Bacon will deliver the funeral address, to be followed by remarks by Dr. S. F. Forbes. The pall bearers are: Doctors Chapman, Kirkley, Forbes, Collomore and Woods; honorary escort, Ex-mayors Marx, King, Romeis, Hamilton, Scheets, Judge Potter and Mayor Emmick. The resolutions of respect from the physicians of the city will be embodied in the beautiful eulogy prepared by Dr. Forbes and which will be delivered after the funeral oration. It is expected that Sanford L. Collins Lodge of Masons will conduct the burial exercises.

Token of Respect.

At the meeting of the board of gas trustees last evening the following resolutions of respect on the death of Dr. Jones were adopted:

REPUTATION COMES HIGH.

It is stated that Messrs. Abbey and Grau have engaged Rubenstein for an American tour of fifty concerts next season and are to pay him the enormous sum of $1,500 per concert. This would look like a losing venture were it not for the statement of the Boerson Courier (Berlin, Ger.) that a leading piano manufacturer of New York city has contracted to have their piano used exclusively at these concerts and agree to pay the sum of $1,000 per concert of $50,000 for fifty concerts to obtain this result.

This will let Messrs. Abbey and Grau out all right, and buyers of these pianos will be taxed to pay this enormous expense. Who are the victims in Toledo?

SENATOR BRICE'S HOUSE.

Description of the Mansion He Has Leased.

Washington, May 31.—Senator Brice, of Ohio, has leased the old Corcoran mansion on H street, for a term of five years. The amount of rental he pays is not known, but it is certainly not less than $15,000 a year.

This house was first presented to Daniel Webster by his friends. It afterwards passed to the Corcoran family.

It has one of the most spacious and handsome interiors in Washington. It is furnished in the old style, with magnificent mirrors, and is decorated in gold and white.

The drawing room has a very high ceiling and a hard wood floor. The dining-room will be grand. The chandeliers will light up brilliantly. The house will open up beautifully for receptions and balls.

When touched up here and there it will make as fine a residence as there is in the city. In the rear there is an acre of ground laid out in walks and planted with and shrubbery, which creates a cool feeling on a hot day. Senator Brice will move into this palace in a few days.

THE WEST WIND.

A wonderful wind blows up from the west,
The soft sweet wind of spring;
It ruffles the red on the robin's breast,
It makes the oriole sing,
And wide on its path the cheery trees
Their pearly petals fling.

From the land of bloom the gay wind comes,
The land of love and light;
It kisses the apple tree till it blooms
In banks of pink and white,
It whispers into the columbine
Till it trembles with delight.

The early flowers the summons hear;
The tiniest gnat takes wing;
Gay birds on blooming shrubs appear
And tune their throats to sing;
And not a heart but owns thy charm,
Oh, wanton wind of spring.

Mrs. Squibber—Read it to me, Thomas.

Mr. Squibber—All right; you won't like it, though; but never mind, it may do you you good. Here goes: Some cheerful idiot wants to know whether papers that print matrimonial advertisements come under the ban of anti-lottery law. Not much, Oh, Hayseed Horatio! Incline the longitudinal altitude of thine ears and we will expound to thee whyfore. A lottery is an institution for the distribution of prizes. A man puts in a dollar and may draw $15,000. But marriage! Ah, that resembles a bunco game, where a man puts in all he has and gets nothing."

Mrs. Squibbs—He doesn't, eh? Just you wait till I put Robbie to bed, and I'll show you what he gets.—Providence Line Bulletin.

WAVES MOUNTAIN HIGH—

Or somewhat less—threaten, during a storm, to engulf the venturous voyager on the tempestuous Atlantic. Sometimes he is torn with deep despair at such a juncture, sometimes he is rather glad of it. The latter condition of mind obtains when he is sea sick. The diabolical qualms which he has undergone, and which are now aggravated ten fold by the pitching of the ship, render him in a measure indifferent to his fate. This picture is scarcely exaggerated, as people who have been violently sea sick will assure you. Travelers and tourists by sea and land should always be provided with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a means of counteracting sea sickness and the nervous disturbance of stomachic trouble begotten of uncomfortable transit by land or water, or unwholesome food hastily swallowed at railway stations. Emigrants should supply themselves with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a family safeguard against malaria, stomach, liver and bowel complaints, kidney trouble and rheumatism.

THE BEE AT MINNEAPOLIS.

The hundreds of republicans in Toledo and northwestern Ohio who will attend the national republican convention in Minneapolis will be glad to know that their favorite paper for news, the Bee, will be on sale during the convention. Copies may be obtained at the news stand in the New York Life Insurance Company building, which will also be general press headquarters. The Bee will be a lively buzzer next week.

The Fairbault Plan in Ohio.

Archbishop Ireland, the beloved prelate of St. Paul, has unconsciously done the whole country a service by directing attention to localities where the people dwell together without contention and where lines of community are not so divergent as to estrange neighbors and friends.

The so-called Fairbault plan of teaching in the public schools is in vogue here and there in many places, one, near at home, where, in successful operation, the creeds meet upon common ground for the education of the youth.

Delphos, in Allen county, is a prosperous city of 6,000 inhabitants, a progressive place, a manufacturing town, a railroad center. Its population is sturdy and intelligent, its schools are among the best in the state. The Fairbault plan has been observed in Delphos twenty years without friction of any kind. Rev. Father Hoeffel, the pastor in charge of the largest Catholic church in the diocese, fellowships with his Protestant friends and all is peace and contentment.

The school property is jointly owned by the state and church and politics are entirely eliminated from the management of the public schools. A chapter might be written on this happy state of affairs, but the story is best told by a respected citizen of Delphos who communicates as follows to the Bee:

To the Editor: Noticing in your Saturday's issue an item referring to the Fairbault system of public schools in Allegheny, New York, I thought it might be of interest to you and the readers of the Bee to know that the same system has been in practical vogue in Delphos, Ohio, for twenty-five years. We have here three school buildings. Two of them are the property of the district and are known as the English department, and the other is the property of the Catholic congregation, and is known as the German department. In the English department we occupy sixteen rooms and employ sixteen teachers, and the German department has five rooms with five teachers. In the latter department the teachers are all Catholics, appointed and paid by the board with public funds, though recommended for appointment by the pastor of the Catholic church. The grades in the German department course of studies are just like the English department and are under the direct control of Superintendent E. W. Hastings.

Eighty per cent. of the pupils attending the German department are Catholics, and these, with their teachers, attend mass at the church at 7:30 in the morning. At 8 o'clock, after mass, all repair to their respective rooms where the hour between 8 and 9 is devoted to religious instructions. At 9 the regular school exercises begin and are just the same as in any other public school. No rental is paid to the congregation for the use of this building, but it is kept in repair by the board of education.

About one-half of the population of Delphos are Catholics, and the other half belong to other denominations. Politically, Delphos has about 300 democratic majority, yet two of the members of the board are republicans by consent. The present board consists of Messrs. H. J. Frame, C. H. Osthoff, J. F. McShane and O. J. Ostendorf, democrats, and C. P. Washburn and Horace A. Reeves, republicans. O. J. Ostendorf, democrat, is president, while C. P. Washburn, republican, has been clerk for eighteen years. At th eannual elections there is no contests, a nomination being equivalent to an election. Prof. E. W. Hastings, a republican, has been superintendent for twenty years and has just been re-elected.

Three of the board are Catholics and three non-Catholic. Politics are not permitted to enter in any manner whatever in the proceedings of the board, and in the last five years there has not been a negative vote on the journal. There is only one object in view and this object is shared by the board—superintendent, teachers, pupils and patrons, to make the Delphos schools second to none in the state. The feeling of perfect satisfaction among all classes and denominations in our district is such that you cannot find a person who does not approve of the present status of school affairs. The board works in perfect harmony with the pastor of the church, and there is no friction of any kind. All work so harmoniously that it cannot help but so improve the condition and rank of the Delphos schools as to make them compare favorably with the best anywhere. O. J. O.

The Half-Masted Flag.

Yesterday, Memorial day, when the air was resounding with victorious music; when there was thankfulness and praise in every sound, and the gladness of nature was blended with man's sentiment and gratitude, why should the flag of the country be placed at half-mast? The Bee protests that it is not in keeping with patriotic spirit. We do not half-mast the flag on the Fourth of July, and yet what brave souls went thither through the smoke of battle and the privations of war, to earn and establish for us the grand independence the day commemorates.

None the less do we mourn the dead that we rejoice over the victories that have made and kept our blessed country the ideal republic of the world and of history. If a voice could come from the dust of our soldier dead, it would never bid us to "half-mast the starry flag." It would say, "run it up high into the free air; there is where we died to place and to keep it; it is the flag of victory, not of defeat."

We garland their lowly resting places in memory of their brave deeds; we mourn in our hearts their bright young lives, yielded up gladly and willingly for the sake of country, but in recognition of their victories, let us "lift high the royal banner," as they would do, if they were marching home victorious from the war, even though the soil behind them was bedewed with the blood of comrades. Let us mourn in our hearts and homes, but not with the flag; that is the signal of victory and rejoicing.

In the large cities of New York state the new factory inspection law is being rigidly enforced. This law is aimed at the miserable "sweating system." It provides specifically that "no rooms or apartments in any tenement or dwelling shall be used for the manufacture of coats, etc., excepting by the immediate members of the family living therein." It is not lawful to employ any person to work in any one room in any tenement or dwelling at making any coats, etc., without first obtaining a written permit from the Factory Inspector, which permit may be revoked at any time the health of the community or those employed therein require it, and which permit shall not be granted until an inspection of such premises is made."

To those who do not understand the depth of slavery there is in the system as it has been allowed to grow, this law has a sound of encroachment on personal liberty in the most obnoxious form. But that no such protest has been raised against it in any quarter, proves how desperate the case is to demand such remedy. Verily, labor needs something more than a tariff tax for its "protection."

The courts have decided that the republican national committee shall not be obliged to pay Miss Anna Dickinson for work done in the campaign of 1888. Miss Dickinson was regularly engaged by the committee and labored in her old-time vigorous style, with voice and pen for the election of Harrison. If the party were victorious, Miss Dickinson was to be paid a stipulated sum. The case is thrown out of the courts on the grounds that the committee as a whole was not responsible for the engagement and contract, but certain members of it. The most certain member, according to the history of the case, was J. S. Clarkson. Miss Dickinson undertook the arduous task and performed it with assiduity and faithfulness; her fortune, earned by her own industry and talent, has slipped away, and she was working for needed remuneration. The dishonest outcome is a lasting disgrace to the man or men who are responsible for it.

This is a campaign year and the annual fun with the Chicago Tribune and its editor-on-a-teter-board has begun, in the Chicago papers. Anent a little republican high-tax spirit which the Tribune felt that it was time to inject into its editorial sayings, the Times hurls this quotation at it—dating only a little time back:

The present system of protection backtaxes and waterlogs every other manufacturer. The whole system is mutual plunder one of another and all of each. In this protection struggle to grab one from the other, where the game is the devil take the hindmost, the unprotected agriculturists are the ones who get taken in and done by the smarter town gentry. Protection is a fraudulent and false system. Freedom of exchange, like truth, alone leads to honest results.

And the hand that penned these solemn truths is now penning appeals to men to vote to continue and uphold this "fraudulent and false system," by re-election of its advocates. Only Joe Medill could do such things in a sober way.

A special cablegram from London says, the Cobden club is attempting to reorganize to combat the influence of Lord Salisbury's "fair trade" speech, but "it is a decayed institution and without funds." Bless the soul of the Britisher, it is pouring gold by the barrel into this country, cording to republican organs, to help the democrats in "their effort to ruin the country."

It will be a long day, Cobden club or no Cobden club, before the old corn law of England, which the great philanthropist was instrumental in repealing, will be re-enacted. English newspapers take Lord Salisbury's speech for what it is worth, politically, at this juncture of affairs.

Of course Secretary Foster comes to the defense of Harrison, as against the Blaine movement. Mr. Foster was placed in the cabinet for a purpose, the principal object being to strengthen the machine. The secretary is a thoroughly equipped politician, next to John Sherman the most astute among Ohio republicans. He will render valuable assistance to the president and together with Elkins, will largely negative the Blaine boom in Washington.

TO INCREASE GAS RATES

Mr. Backus Introduces a Resolution Advancing Prices.

The Board of Gas Trustees Decides it Cannot Make an Advance—Mr. Backus' Argument.

There was but little business transacted at the regular meeting of the board of gas trustees last evening. The death of Dr. Jones and the absence of Mr. Voit left a bare quorum present.

After the resolutions of respect on the death of Dr. Jones, printed elsewhere, Mr. Backus introduced the following self-explanatory resolution:

Whereas, In view of the fact that the Northwestern competitive gas plant of this city has given notice ..... the price they propose charging for the coming year by meter measure will be 20 cents net per thousand cubic feet; that the price charged in Detroit, Mich., is 30 cents net per thousand feet, and at Dayton and Springfield 20 cents, Columbus 25 cents within the state, with the following rates charged at points outside of the state, as follows:

Buffalo Natural Gas and Fuel Co., Buffalo, N. Y., 35c gross, 25c net; Pennsylvania Gas Co., Erie, Pa., 25c gross, 22.5c net; Pennsylvania Gas Co., Corry, Pa., 24c gross, 21.6c net; Pennsylvania Gas Co., Jamestown, N. Y., 24c gross, 21.6c net; Meadville Fuel Gas Co., Meadville, Pa., 24c gross, 21.6c net; Meadville Natural Gas Co., Meadville, Pa., 24c gross, 21.6c net; Salamanca Gas Co., Salamanca, N. Y., 24c gross, 21.6c net; Philadelphia Gas Co., Pittsburg, Pa., 30c gross, 20c net; Chartiers Gas Co., Pittsburg, 30c gross, 20c net; Allegheny Heat and Light Co., Allegheny City, Pa., 30c gross, 20c net; Pennsylvania Gas Co., Warren, Pa., 21c gross, 18.9c net; Oil City Fuel Supply Co., Oil City, Pa., 20c gross, 18c net; Northwestern Pennsylvania Natural Gas Co., Oil City, Pa., 20c gross, 18c net; Franklin Gas Co., Franklin, Pa., 20c gross, 18c net.

And yet the further fact that there is within the city a demand for all the natural gas that can be supplied by the city and the N. W. Gas Co., at a price below or equal to the cost of anthracite coal, and to the end that the city's income from its natural gas plant may produce an income to meet operating expenses, pay the accruing interest on its gas bond indebtedness and setting aside a sinking fund to meet the bonds at maturity; therefore be it

Resolved, That from the first day of June or thereafter, on the expiration of all outstanding contracts, if paid on or before the 10th of each month, two and one-half times the price now charged (8c per thousand feet) by meter or mixer used for cooking or for laundry purposes, and also for all gas used for heating purposes, as fixed and established by schedule of prices now in force by the city; if not paid by time above specified, an additional charge of 25 per cent. shall be charged and collected; also that double the price now charged for natural gas used through tips for illuminating purposes only shall be collected, none of which tips shall be used under any circumstances for heating purposes during daylight, or after 11 o'clock p. m.

There was no second to the resolution.

Mr. Romeis said the primary movement of the board should be to secure a supply of gas.

President Greene considered the resolution premature, in face of the recent decision of the circuit court.

Mr. Backus said if the resolution was seconded, he was prepared to submit an argument in favor of it. There was no second, however, and subsequently Mr. Backus presented the following to the reporters:

In presenting the above, I have to state that Mr. M. B. Daily, superintendent of the Northwestern Gas Co., and Mr. C. R. Fabin, superintendent of the T., G. L. & Coke Co., as expert authority, say that 20,000 feet of natural gas, as now being supplied to consumers in this city, in its heating units is equal to a net ton of best quality bituminous lump and anthracite coal. In the absence of natural gas as fuel, anthracite coal is universally used in this city for heating in stoves and furnaces with about 50 per cent. used of same kind of coal in cooking and laundry stoves; the remaining 50 per cent. for such use is of soft coal; as a result there would be consumed 75 per cent. of anthracite and 25 per cent. of bituminous coal. On a basis of the present price of anthracite coal, $6 per ton and $4 per ton for best quality of soft coal and 20 cents per thousand cubic feet of natural gas, there would be a saving of 33 1-3 per cent. to the 75 per cent. of all anthracite coal consumers in the city for purposes as above stated, with the remaining 25 per cent. consumers of bituminous coal paying an equal cost as compared with natural gas at 20 cents per thousand feet.

With proper economy exercised in the use of coal and gas for heating purposes, together with the expense attending the handling of coal and its residuums, it is safe to say that the gain to all consumers of anthracite coal would be 10 per cent. over the 75 per cent. noted above, and 10 per cent. to all using bituminous coal. Were this an original and independent proposition submitted to all consumers of fuel for family use within the city, which of the two, coal or natural gas at the prices stated, or upon an equal basis, would they prefer? Fully 99 per cent. would elect to use natural gas instead of coal.

The other and equally important phase of the question to the taxpayer of this city is the fact that thus far, or within two or three months hence, the city will be involved in an obligation amounting to nearly $1,200,000 for its natural gas plant. The semi-annual accruing interest and the principal, together with operating expenses, must be paid as they mature, and to do so it is evident that at least 20 cents per thousand should be charged with the hope that if the supply is adequate to meet the wants of those on its line to-day, continue for 10 years, the city may receive a revenue equal to meet its gas plant obligation. Had the city to-day the 150,000,000 feet of gas daily as developed and subject to be drawn upon as represented in the trustees' annual report of two years ago, with the assurance that the quantity and pressure would be indefinitely or even for a single decade sustained, I could readily see how the advance in price from 8 to 20 cents per thousand feet might be justly considered unreasonably high. As an offset to that, our citizens know, as do this board, that the quantity and pressure of the gas in the field has been rapidly, I may say alarmingly, declining, until it was regretfully developed that during the past winter, which was rather above than below the average temperature, it was unable to supply more than 50 per cent. of its patrons with an amount of gas fully adequate to their demands and wants regardless of the fact that the trustees by their agents, or delegated authority to its patrons, caused some 4,000 mixers to be bored out from Nos. 3 and 5 to any increased size to meet the wants of consumers. I estimate that only about 33 1-3 per cent. of our citizens have, since the city has commenced furnishing natural gas, enjoyed the luxury of getting their fuel for family at 50 per cent. less than the remaining 66 2-3 per cent. supplied by the Northwestern Gas Co. and about 30 per cent. of other fuel had it not have been for the gas supplied by the city and the Northwestern Gas Co. If the price named by the Northwestern Gas Co., as well as all the Pittsburg, Pa., gas companies, whose field supply is only distant from 12 to 15 miles from that city—as thorough business men, with as much experience as any natural gas company know and say—is but just and fair interest on one of the most hazardous ventures in the country, it is fair to say until such testimony con be impeached that the city through its gas trustees should advance the price to 20 cents.

In conclusion I can as a business man but believe when our citizens become fully advised as to the present condition of its gas plant, and the great uncertainty of supply in the future, that they will not only approve but demand at your hands and advance in price up to the limit above stated.

A special meeting will be held Thursday to take action on the death of Dr. Jones, whose funeral the members and officers of the board will attend in a body.

TOLSTOI IS ILL.

DEATHS CAME TOO FAST.

Cause of the Collapse of the Empire Order of the Mutual Aid.

A Buffalo special of May 28 to the Chicago Post, says: Additional particulars concerning the winding up of the affairs of the Empire Order of Mutual Aid show that 45 death claims remain unpaid. The policies are nearly all for $2,000, so that the order is liable for $90,000. The assets are estimated at about $20,000. Included in this is the $2,000 paid to Mrs. Bryant Crandall, which is secured by an indemnity bond. The courts will have to decide the matter of death claims when a receiver is appointed. The claimants may not get the full value of their claims, but it is expected that they will receive a good proportion. The cause of the embarrassment of the order is the excessive rate of mortality with which it had to contend for the last 18 months and owing to the numerous assessments the membership has been decreasing. The total membership of the order at the present time is estimated at 2,500. On January 1 of this year, it was nearly 4,000. Originally the order was a level assessment organization, but for the last two years it has been run on the graded assessment plan.

VERDICT RENDERED

In the Case of Frank Manet —Coroner Beckwith

Finds the Lake Shore and Consolidated Companies and the City of Toledo Guilty of Negligence.

Coroner Beckwith this morning rendered his verdict in the case of Frank Manet, killed by the falling of the St. Clair street bridge on May 13. The verdict is as follows:

After having heard the evidence and examined the body, I do find that the deceased came to his death by reason of being crushed between two street cars by the falling of the St. Clair street bridge over the L. S. & M. S. R. R. The said L. S. & M. S. R. R. Co. being guilty of gross negligence in allowing said bridge to become out of repair and dangerous for travel, the timber of said bridge being decayed and rotten.

I also find that the Toledo Consolidated Street Railway company was guilty of negligence in running cars over said bridge after being aware of its unsafe condition.

I further find that the city of Toledo was negligent in not seeing that said bridge was not properly maintained.

MADE HIS LAST TRIP.

Captain Ike P. Grover Drops Dead in a Mail Car.

His First Tripon a New Route Prove His Last—The Remains En Route from Allegan to Toledo.

Captain Isaac P. Grover, the well-known and popular postoffice messenger, dropped dead yesterday in the mail car between Toledo and Allegan, Mich.

It was his first trip over the new route, and when he shook hands with Superintendent of City Delivery Rike at 7:30 yesterday morning he said he never felt better in his life. He was happy over his transfer to an easier run and was in excellent spirits when he left the office.

Yesterday afternoon Postmaster Brown received a dispatch from Allegan stating that Captain Grover had dropped dead while at his post of duty in the mail car.

Captain Grover was about 54 years of age, and has been in the government service for over ten years. He was a captain in the Thirty-fourth Ohio. He was a member of Volunteer post G. A. R., which organization will have charge of the funeral, which takes place at 3 p. m. to-morrow from his late residence on Walbridge avenue.

Capt. Grover was for years mail messenger on a freight between here and Detroit. Later he was transferred to the run between Toledo and Chicago, and only yesterday morning he started on his first trip on the route between Toledo and Allegan.

The remains will arrive here to-day and will be conveyed to his home corner of Walbridge and Maumee avenues. He leaves a wife and two children—a son and daughter. Sincere regret is expressed over the sudden death of the genial and popular soldier.

THE PRESIDENT BACK.

He is Much Pleased With His Rochester Trip.

Washington, May 31.—President Harrison and party returned from Rochester this morning, arriving here at 7:30. The president expressed himself in enthusiastic terms over the trip, saying it was one of the pleasantest in his experience.

He warmly complimented Congressman Greenleaf, who arranged the excursion, and the committee in charge of the reception and entertainment in Rochester.

Members of the party say that the outward trip and the reception at Rochester, lasting until the departure of the train homeward bound was a continued ovation.

CURRENT COMMENT.

John C. Calhoun, a descendant of the great South Carolina statesman of that name, is being quoted by the democratic press as a warm advocate of Grover Cleveland's nomination. This is as it should be. For John C. Calhoun was practically the founder in this country of the tariff doctrine of which Mr. Cleveland is now the foremost representative.—Boston Journal.

The influence of the Stars and Stripes in every direction is for the best, and when it hangs over the taffrail of a boat, be she a yawl or a ten thousand ton steamship, it booms the vessel ahead and makes it so conscious of this pledge that it beats everything.—N. Y. Herald.

The nomination of John Sherman at Minneapolis is nearer than many suppose. Only the apparition of the Plumed Knight stands in the path; but it must be always understood that James G. Blaine is the first choice of the entire republican party for president. His nomination would mean his election. If Mr. Blaine declines, John Sherman will be the republican nominee.—Albany Journal.

Some of the defeated Hill organs are making a rather unseemly exhibition of their chagrin by lavishing praise on Blaine and casting slurs on Cleveland. Which do they propose to elect, the democratic or the republican nominee?—Atlanta Journal.

The congressional district in which Gov. McKinley resides has been made strongly republican, but his party has made the mistake of nominating a man named Morgan, who is the avowed enemy of organized labor, and has said more against it than he will have time to take back between now and election day. If Congressman Warwick will consent to make another run it is a moral certainty that Mr. Morgan will share the same fate as did McKinley two years ago, before the republican gerrymander was made.—Detroit Free Press.

Democrats err who think they would lose anything in a party sense by the passage of what is termed the free art bill. It is admitted that the bill would pass the senate and that the president would not dare to veto it. Its passage is demanded by all parties, and would inure to the benefit of all sections with no injury to any. The failure to initiate this reform from fear of republicans completing it is unworthy of men holding the important position of members of the present democratic house.—Chicago Times.

The United States Government tests (Dep. Ag'l Bulletin 13, p. 599) show the Royal Baking Powder superior to all others.

RAILROADS TO TOLEDO.

Talk of Three New Lines to Center Here.

The "Three I's" to Extend—The Wabash Has a Scheme, and the C., H. & D. is in Line with a Little Rumor.

With spring comes the birds, flowers, building booms and new railroads, and it is with the latter this article has to deal. Wafted eastward on vernal zephyrs come tidings of a new railroad to Toledo, and the money-bags who preside over the destinies of the "Three I's," or, to be more explicit, the Indiana, Illinois & Iowa Railroad company, are the people who are interested in the scheme.

This road is well known in Central Traffic territory, for the reason that, due to its position it has a peculiar way of manipulating rates without transgressing the rules, that amounts to a cut. But this is not the point. The "Three I's" extends from Knox, Ind., to Streator, Ill. The intention is to build from Knox to Toledo, and to connect here with the Canadian Pacific, and with the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western make another trunk line east and west.

This reference to the Canadian Pacific resuscitates another languishing rumor to the effect that the Canadian Pacific was to build from Detroit to Toledo. It now looks as if there might be something in it, and that the pushing eastward of the "three I's" could be taken as evidence that the report was not chimerical. It supplies the missing link, and makes the scheme appear feasible.

Goshen, Ind., is up and hustling for the extension of the Three I's to come that way. That city will give a free right of way and all the necessary ground for depots and shops, together with $30,000 in cash and an additional $30,000 when the road is completed from Goshen to Toledo. Evidently Goshenites admire Toledo and desire a closer connection with the Future Great. The affection is mutual, doubtless.

Representatives of the road are looking over the proposed line, and information up to date ends here.

Now comes another project. The Wabash is building a line from Montpelier to Chicago, and it will probably be completed by fall. It is the intention of that company at the completion of the present work to build from Montpelier to Maumee where they will strikes their own tracks into Toledo, thus making a Toledo-Chicago line.

To complete a tridentate spring railroad boom, comes the report that the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad company is surveying a line from Toledo to Detroit, and that the work of construction will commence within a month. Where there is smoke there is generally some fire, 'tis said. There are several other local deals pending, such as sales of roads, etc., but enough for the present.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Afternoon Proceedings at Memorial Hall.

The Parade—Address by Governor McKinley—Program as Observed.

Thousands of people paid tribute to the memory of the nation's dead in Toledo, yesterday.

The weather was perfect and the program for the day, as previously arranged, was carried out in a most satisfactory manner.

In the morning the sorrowful, but most beautiful feature of the day's ceremonies, was enacted, that of strewing the graves of the dead heroes with flowers in loving remembrance of their loyalty and valiant services in the country's hour of need.

In the afternoon the streets were thronged with people, anxious to witness the parade and get a peep at Gov. McKinley.

The various organizations to participate in the parade met at the square on Ontario between Adams and Madison streets.

At 2:30 the line of march was taken up, from Madison to Cherry, to Erie, concluded at Memorial hall.

A squad of policemen, under the command of Sergeant Conway, preceded the main line. The parade was under the command of Col. H. S. Bunker, as grand marshal, with E. W. Goodnow, as chief of staff.

The procession was made up as announced in the Bee. Gov. McKinley with his party rode in the middle of the line, and was loudly cheered as his carriage passed the crowds. With him were Gen. J. S. Kountz, Dr. S. F. Forbes and John P. Bronson.

The march was very short, and at 3 o'clock the line drew up at Memorial hall.

Gov. McKinley and the following named gentlemen occupied seates on the stage: Col. H. S. Bunker, L. E. Clarke, Gen. P. S. Slevin, Dr. S. F. Forbes, L. Franc, Hon. Jacob Romeis, Revs. S. D. Hutsinpiller and S. Austin, Judge Howe, and Commanders W. I. Squire, W. H. Sloan and R. G. Bacon. Others participating in the parade took seats assigned them in the front rows.

Gen. John S. Kountz was introduced as presiding officer, who made a few appropriate remarks on the occasion of the day's services.

The audience then stood up and sang "America," and the hall fairly rang with the old favorite. Rev. S. D. Hutsinpiller invoked the divine blessing, after which the audience was seated and Chairman Kountz introduced Gov. McKinley, the speaker of the day.

The announcement was greeted with cheers, and as the governor stepped forward, the applause was deafening. He was compelled to wait a short time until the enthusiastic outburst could subside. Then, in a most graceful manner, he addressed himself to the chair, comrades, Relief corps and the audience.

Speaking of the day and the memories it gave rise to, he stated that he would not endeavor to imagine any American who, on this day, of all days, was not proud of his country, or a man who was not proud to be enlisted among those who fought for the protection of the rights of this country.

America loves and honors her veterans, living and dead, and no tribute to the dead or service to the living will ever repay the debt of gratitude this country owes its veterans for the four years of privation and misery spent in maintaining the union. The custom of devoting one day at the graves of the dead heroes, he said, is a most beautiful one, and should be maintained through the years to come.

He spoke of the glorious records of Lincoln, Grant, Sherman, Sheridan and Hancock, and as the names of America's greatest generals were uttered by the speaker, cheer after cheer went up.

The address was replete with good things from introduction to finish. The speaker carried his points by illustrations and incidents full of interest and good morals.

In conclusion he thanked the citizens of Toledo for their marked attention and courtesy extended while their guest.

A TRIBUTE.

None knew my friend, Mrs. Henry R. Felker, whose death occurred May 27, but to admire and respect her sterling worth of character. She was true to her convictions; she was untiring in her ministrations to the needs of others. Her conscientiousness stood foremost. Though a beautiful and charming woman attracting all who came within her influence, these were subservient to the greater influences of the fineness of her character. This was her real charm, this sensitive appreciation of the rights of others including all in the universal brotherhood. What need of words to those who knew her? Such souls as hers make and have a lasting impress for good. Their lives and their deeds and their example have and exert an uplifting power immeasurable and continuing.

THE ELECTRIC STATION.

A Monster Enterprise is About Perfected.

The Toledo Electric Light Company Will Spend $100,000 on a New Plant.

Mr. James S. Rodgers has returned from Boston, where he has been on business pertaining to the proposed electric light station in this city.

The result of the eastern consultation is that the Toledo Electric Light company in which, by the way, the Thomson-Houston people own a controlling interest, will erect along the river front an immense electric station.

"The only thing I can say regarding it," said Mr. Rodgers to a Bee yesterday, "is that it will be built. We propose putting up one of the finest and most modern plants in the country."

"Where will it be located?"

"That has not yet been decided, but it will be on the river front. The site on the Wheeling has been abandoned, as we must have water. We have several options on some suitable sites, and Mr. Moore, who will be here next week, will probably make the selection when he comes."

The estimated cost of the new plant is $100,000. The boilers in the present station on St. Clair street may be utilized, but the engines and nearly all the other machinery will be discarded for more perfect apparatus.

A DETECTIVE AGENCY.

Branch of the Merchants' Agency of New York

To be Established in Toledo—Detective Manly and J. M. MacNamar to be Its Managers.

At last Toledo is to have a detective agency, and be in line with the progress and advancement of the times.

The success of such an enterprise is assured when it is known that J. M. MacNamar will conduct the business.

Mr. MacNamar has completed arrangements whereby a branch of New York's famous Merchants' Detective Agency will be established in Toledo.

Further proof of the success of this enterprise is apparent in the fact that the agency will be under the direct management of Detective John Manly.

When Mr. Manly was summarily discharged from the city's employ, without cause or explanation, he looked about him for employment in his line. Mr. Manly's reputation as a detective extends a great many miles beyond Toledo, and it was but a few days until he was in receipt of flattering offers from New York City, Chicago and San Francisco. At the same time he received a proposition to take charge of this detective agency in Toledo. He appreciated the wisdom of such a project in Toledo and immediately began laying his plans to this end. The co-operation of Mr. MacNamar was solicited and granted, and the matter has been definitely settled.

At the meeting of the police board to-morrow night Mr. Manly will present his resignation. It is stated that Jack Carew's resignation will also be submitted, and that he will be employed by the agency. The best timber of the present detective force will be secured by the management, which will greatly impair the success of the Toledo force.

The new agency will be conducted on strictly business principles, and will grow as success warrants.

NOT SO REMARKABLE.

A Dispatch That Can Be Duplicated in Toledo Every Day.

The following paragraph recently went the rounds in a press dispatch from St. Paul:

Mr. D. B. Albright, whose residence is 256 Furrington avenue, St. Paul, makes the public statement that it seems as though he had grown ten years younger since he commenced the use of Paine's celery compound.

So say many in this town to-day.

Inquiry among the druggists show that it is having an immense sale here. It well merits this great popularity, and it is with satisfaction that the Bee records the fact that Paine's celery compound is not only the standard spring medicine used by our best people, but also their household remedy. Many buy half a dozen bottles at a time, so as to have it in case of need. They run no risk in doing this, for the compound keeps perfectly, and the last drop in the sixth bottle is as full of curative power as the first.

ANGEL OF ANNUNCIATION.

A holy angel came one night
With lilies in her hand;
All silvered by the clear moonlight
I saw her stand.

About her like a halo shone
Her rippling golden hair.
The lilies cast their shadows on
Her bosom bare.

Her eyes gleamed softly through the gloom—
Her radiant, heavenly eyes—
Her presence made my narrow room
A paradise.

Low words she spoke, sweet words that made
My soul grow still to know;
And softly on my breast she laid
The blooms, like snow.

Then all was silence, and the moon
Across my casement shone;
The vision vanished all too soon;
I was alone.

Save for the lilies sweet and white
That on my breast were laid;
Save for the memory of the light
Her presence made.

Since that rare hour upon my breast
Those lilies still I bear;
Fadeless and beautiful they rest
Their pureness there.

The years may come, the years may go,
And light and youth depart;
Immortal shall their beauty glow
Within my heart.

Magic qualities are attached in Hungary, as in Germany, to the lime or linden tree. In some villages it is usual to plant one before a house to prevent witches from entering. From early times the lime tree was sacred to Venus among the Greeks, as it was to Lada among the Slavonians. This, it is said, was due to its leaves being the shape of a heart.

They go forth wearing great aprons and armed with small, strong kitchen knives and return home laden with as much as half a bushel each. The dandelion boiled with pork appears on the table as the "greens" of our grandmothers.

The gross receipts for the fiscal year ended June 30 last, were $3,374,887, and the gross expenditures $4,020,759, a deficit of $645,852. During the year the mails carried 97,975,000 letters, 20,000,000 postal cards, and 25,800,000 newspapers and such packages. There were 5,061 postoffices in the dominion at the date of the report.

Mr. Flamand, who has been studying the inscribed stones in the southeastern part of Algeria, has found many rocks upon which men, women and children, who were evidently prehistoric, are represented. The stones show the figures of horses, cattle, ostriches and elephants, though the elephant has not inhabited this region within historic times. No clew has yet been found to the identity of these people, who were evidently neither Berbers, Arabs, Romans, Vandals or Visigoths. The designs bear considerable resemblance to Egyptian figures.

Ex-Councilman Robert Thomas, of Germantown, Pa., is old enough to remember the reception to Lafayette in Germantown in 1824. Of a story sometimes circulated that there were two receptions, one for the plain people and another for society leaders, Mr. Thomas says: "No, that isn't true, and I'll tell you why. My two uncles were out in the field at work, and when they heard the music they threw down their scythes and passed through the hall at the Chew house with the rest of the throng who had come to do honor to the marquis. They were in their shirt-sleeves, and one of them had his horn for sharpening his scythe stuck in his belt. Lafayette grasped them both heartily by the hand and assured them that he was glad to see them."

The most valuable and unique historical relic in Connecticut, perhaps, is Gen. Israel Putnam's old plow, which a hardware dealer uses for a sign in front of his place of business in the village of Danielsonville, Windham county. It is the identical plow, so the merchant says, that "Old Put" left in the furrow when the news reached him that the British had attacked the Americans at Lexington. Putnam unhitched his horses and drove them to his barn, unharnessed one, mounted its back, and rode away to Boston. He got there in time to lead the continentals when the British stormed Bunker Hill. The plow is a clumsy old implement. Its frame and mold board are of wood, it is plated with scraps of iron, and it has a joint and cutter of forged iron.

TARTAR'S LAST RUN.

"Stranger, do you believe in miracles?" I looked up from my newspaper, the columns of which I had been listlessly scanning, and encountered the gaze of the speaker. I saw before me a man about 40 years of age. He had a bluff, open face, and his hair was streaked with gray. He wore the regulation uniform of the railway, and I recognized in him the ticket agent, telegraph operator, etc., of the station in which I was waiting for my train.

I had finished my business in the town, some two miles away, and, as I had nothing to do until the train arrived, I was not at all averse to chatting with him.

"That depends entirely upon what you consider a miracle," I replied, throwing aside my paper.

"I don't know that I can exactly explain what I mean, but I believe that the event I am thinking of might be called one."

Of course I expressed a desire to know what he referred to, imagining that he had a story to relate to me.

"Well," he remarked by way of an introduction, "it isn't often I tell this story, but to-night I feel just like it. Perhaps the fact that it occurred just seven years ago may account for the inclination.

"It was just such a day as this: the air was cold enough to make a fire seem comfortable, while at the same time it was not at all disagreeable out of doors.

"At the time I was employed at the same job I am now. There was of course less work to do in those days; this region has rapidly increased in population during the last few years.

"But this does not interest you: so I will fire up and start on my run with a full head of steam.

"Six miles west of here lies the town of Bartson; ten miles to the east, Dawson. This is the only station between the two.

"It was exactly this time of day, 5:30, when my sounder commenced clicking away at my call. For some reason I did not respond at once; when I did, I received the following startling message:

"'Wild engine headed your way—Old Tartar. Ditch her.'

"The message was from the operator at Bartson, and in plain English meant that the engine known as Old Tartar had by some means or other started off without anyone on board and was headed in this direction. To ditch an engine is to open a switch, thus allowing it to run on to a side track, where it at last leaves the track and probably goes over on its side. Of course the engine is badly smashed, if not completely ruined, but it is the only safe course to adopt.

"There was but one siding suitable for the purpose, the others having more or less cars on them. The switch was about 100 yards down the track in the direction of Bartson.

"It was evident to me that the Old Tartar must have passed Bartson when they commenced calling me, and as wild engines generally travel pretty fast, I foresaw that I had not any too much time in which to carry out my instructions.

"I will mention one more fact; an accommodation train was due from the east inside of half an hour.

"You may believe I did not lose much time in leaving the depot and heading for the switch. I had not taken half a dozen steps when I heard a dull roar of but momentary duration. That told me as well as words could that the Old Tartar had crossed Mud River bridge, less than quarter of a mile away.

"I can get over the ground at a fair rate of speed when necessary, and I considered that one of the occasions. I had traveled considerably more than half of the distance when, glancing up, I saw the Old Tartar shoot around the curve at the top of the grade which ends at this station. It was a race between myself and that engine, with the switch as the objective point.

"Apparently I was sure of winning, but I realized that I had no time to spare.

"I had nearly reached the switch when I stumbled and fell. Not more than five seconds were lost, yet I failed. I was in the act of scrambling to my feet when the Old Tartar rushed past me like a whirlwind. I realized that I had missed her, but I did not bemoan my luck. There was not time for that, as the operator at Dawson must be warned immediately.

"I rushed back to the station and called him up. He responded immediately, and I forwarded to him the message I had received but a moment before. Back came the reply:

"Too late; the accommodation left five minutes ago.

"Perhaps you can imagine what my feelings were when I received that answer! A collision which would surely result in the loss of life seemed inevitable! Nothing short of a miracle could avert it. I blamed myself for the whole thing. If I had answered the call immediately I should have succeeded in ditching the Old Tartar. I seemed to be standing on the verge of a precipice over which I feared every moment to fall. I only came to myself when I heard a rumble, and, looking down the track toward Dawson, saw the headlight of an engine. A moment afterward the accommodation pulled up at the station.

"I lost no time in approaching the conductor for the purpose of learning how the collision had been averted. To my surprise he had no knowledge of the Old Tartar's being 'wild.' He considered me a fit subject for an insane asylum, and did not hesitate to tell me so. I even began to doubt my own sanity.

"A message of inquiry was forwarded to Bartson and the following reply received:

Hines was ordered to ditch the Old Tartar. Did he do it?

"No one of us could offer any explanation until suddenly the conductor exclaimed:

"'She must have jumped the track!'

"Such proved to be the case. The Old Tartar was found at the foot of a steep embankment about a mile and a half east of this station. Near by were found several ties, most of them pretty well smashed up.

"You doubtless wonder how this extraordinary thing happened. It was explained her of a notorious gang of outlaws who about a year later by Pete Scully, a member of a notorious gang of outlaws who had infested this region. It seems that they had planned to 'hold up' the accommodation train. They had lanterns, etcetera, with which to signal the train; but fearful that the engineer would recognize them they placed several ties on the track so that if he failed to heed the signal his train would be derailed.

"They had just finished operations when the Old Tartar appeared on the scene. She knocked the ties a-flying, but they did their work, for she jumped the track and rolled down the embankment. Fifteen minutes later the accommodation passed that very spot unmolested. The gang had decided that under the circumstances it would be best not to 'hold up' a train.

"That was the Old Tartar's last run. And now, stranger, that you have heard the story, I want you to answer the question: Was it a miracle?

On the authority of his St. Petersburg correspondent, Edward Yates states in the London World that the czarowitz will visit this country early in June. A deeply rooted dislike to matrimony on the part of the Russian heir, and the czar's equally strong resolve that the line of succession shall be continued, are said to be the warring causes which will bring the czarowitz to America.

BOARDMAN & GRAY PIANOS
ESTABLISHED 1837.
Sold continuously since 1870 at 219 Summit Street.
Why Should Piano Dealers and Their Agents Go Out of Their Way to Decry the Superior Merits of the Boardman & Gray Pianos? The Reason is Obvious.
This make, sold in large numbers for more than 21 years by a reliable house, recommended and indorsed by nearly all of the best musicians and teachers in Toledo, has become a formidable barrier to the sale of other first-class pianos offered by competing dealers and their agents, by reason of their constantly increasing sale and popularity. Competitors, alarmed and uneasy, resort to many unreasonable as well as untrue statements, which they work off on confiding individuals, and cause them to be circulated in this city and elsewhere. Among these old chestnuts, is the statement that "The Whitney & Currier company manufacture the Boardman & Gray, or have a proprietary interest in their manufacture, and are actuated by that interest, to praise their merit and push their sale." The first part of this statement is untrue. This company has no proprietary interest in the manufacture of any piano. It is actuated in recommending the Boardman & Gray piano by the same motives which actuate any honest individual in recommending that which he knows to be of superior merit, and also by the same motives any one would have in pushing the sale of any successful meritorious article in which a reasonable profit may be realized, and that which is true of Boardman & Gray in this respect, is true of other makes this company has for sale. The superior facilities the Whitney & Currier company has in purchasing, enable it to give greater value for a like sum of money than can be had of its competitors. No other house can show an equal line of first-class Pianos, nor the number from which to select in making a purchase. All are invited to call and see for themselves, whether wishing to buy or not.

TOLEDO REAL ESTATE.

Doings of Dealers in Dirt Hereabouts.

A Good Idea to Advertise Toledo Thoroughly.

Irving B. Hiett's Views on a Real Estate Dealer's Organization—A. K. Detwiler's Southern Trip.

Much has been said, pro and con, relative to the establishment of a real estate exchange in Toledo.

For six months the Bee has advocated the organization of real estate men in some form to promote harmony and good feeling, and with but one object in view, viz, the welfare and prosperity of Toledo.

Mr. Cushing struck the right chord when, at the last meeting, held at the Boody house, he made a motion for the appointment of a committee to adopt some plan whereby Toledo would be well advertised at the meeting of the National association at Buffalo next fall. He spoke of the value of advertisement, and he no doubt spoke from experience, as he is one among the hundreds of Toledo business men who believe in liberal and consistent advertising; and every business man present recognized the wisdom of his words.

Let the real estate dealers, insurance agents, merchants, professional men, capitalists and all who claim Toledo as home join hands in advertising Toledo.

Let her fine points be reviewed before the public, from city to city, and continent to continent. Set people to talking about Toledo's splendid resources. Create an inquiry, induce capitalists to visit the city, entertain them while here, and send them home singing the city's praises. This and more can be accomplished by judicious advertising and a little clever management.

Every man in business knows the value of advertising, and the man who does not believe in advertising sooner or later sells out to the sheriff at a sacrifice.

Toledo's location gives her a big advantage over many of the larger cities in the contest of attracting foreign capital, if these points can only be placed in the foreground before the people.

Toledo's shipping facilities are excelled by none and equalled by few.

Situated as she is, on the extreme western point of Lake Erie, vast marine shipments from the east to the west via Lake Erie, are distributed from this point, by the splendid railway service. Her proximity to the great Ohio oil fields is another big advantage. There is much that can be said about Toledo that will give her a name far and near.

An organization with this object in view, could work wonders to the benefit of the city and at a very little cost.

Mr. Detwiler's Southern Trip.

Toledo is best appreciated by those of her citizens who have just returned to it, i. e., its advantages as a home and a place to do business. To be appreciated, it has only to be compared with that of other cities of like or even greater prominence. Each returning tourist has some favored location with which he compares Toledo and invariably closes with the statement that Los Angeles, Denver and some other point are bright and prosperous cities, but taking all things into consideration, Toledo is the most desirable.

Mr. A. K. Detwiler has just returned from an extended trip throughout the south. Speaking to a Bee of his trip he said:

"The great mistake made by visitors to the south, he says, is, they start too early and return too soon. The brightest and pleasantest time to see the south is in the early spring,at the same time missing our raw March and April winds. No one can return from the south and do it comfortably before the first of May at the earliest, and this year could have well afforded to linger a couple of weeks later.

The trip from Cincinnati south by steamer on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers is an unusually pleasant one—a distance of about 1,600 miles, consuming on an average about 9 days. It is one continual scene of varied interest by reason of the numerous stops of the boats, allowing time for brief visits to the numerous cities on the route, and is bound to be far more popular than it is at present on account of its cheapness and comfort.

As said before the majority of tourists take it too early in the year and are kept inside by reason of inclement weather.

The river towns in many cases are showing considerable growth. Louisville, a very bright southern city, is erecting a number of fine improvements, one or two office buildings being particularly fine. Evansville, claiming about 60,000 people, has one of the finest court houses in Indiana, and is making quite a promising growth. The real estate men are pushing things and doing work that might well be copied in part by us Toledo folks.

Tell City, a community of Germans largely interested in a co-operative furniture factory, is making quite a point. So all along down the river in Illinois and Indiana the numerous towns are making considerable growth. Yet in many cases they seem very slow and in many respects far behind the age.

At Memphis we passed under the mammoth railroad bridge just being completed, with its approaches being about three miles in length, a flattering illustration of the growth and progress of the new south.

Vicksburg, by shifting of the bed of the river, is about one and one-half miles from navigable water, at the ordinary stage, but during high water, the steamers run through groves of young willows, that have grown up in the old bed of the river, right up to the old landing. Its main interest is the national cemetery with its 16,600 federal graves and the battle fields in the rear of the town. The main product, as seen from the wharf appears to be "darkies," they appearing on all sides in unlimited numbers.

As we proceeded down the river the high water became more apparent, the river reaching almost to the tops of the levees, giving the passengers on the boat an extended view of the surrounding country, which is flat, unbroken and far from inviting.

Further down came the sugar plantations with their massive sugar houses and long fields of fresh plowed ground, with the cane just peeping above the sod. The sugar bounty has given quite an impetus to this industry and plantations long idle are being brought under cultivation. One planter, we understood, being entitled to $60,000 bounty as the result of this season's crop.

New Orleans with its churches, French markets, and mixed population, is an unending treat to northern visitors. The more you explore the old town with its quaint architecture and peculiar population the more interesting it becomes. It appears much more like a foreign city than one of Uncle Sam's sea-ports. As an evidence of the spirit of progress, a company has just contracted to lay a system of sewerage, removing the great objection to the city's healthfulness and desirability as a place of residence. Property is mainly sold here at auction, and the brokers have unusually complete plans and diagrams, showing the dimensions, appearance and advantages of the property. Business matters are quiet in New Orleans, unusually so, on account of the low price of cotton.

One of the pleasantest cities in the south is Savannah, a city, the business part of which is unusually well paved, and has a handsome and highly improved system of parks, with statues and fountains. The buildings are substantial and attractive, being in the most cases quite a surprise to visitors on account of its evident prosperity and enterprise, for Savannah is far from being a dead city.

Bonaventure, with its long avenues of live oaks draped with Spanish moss, is an ideal cemetery, so weird like that a trip to Savannah is incomplete without a visit to it.

The Magnolia gardens, about twenty miles out of Charleston, is an outgrowth of the taste of the elder Dreyton, who planted it some hundred years ago. It is a perfect maze of shrubs and flowers, so planted that one variety succeeds another in bloom. While visited in April the azaleas were in bloom, being one mass of color. Cammelias grow here in the greatest perfection. They are of numerous colors, and shrubs grow to large size.

In conversation with real estate dealers and property owners in all the different cities which I visited, and in every case I noted that Toledo prices invariably compared much lower. Our prices are low, but they are advancing slow but sure. The south is all right to visit once a year, but for home and enjoyment year in and out I am satisfied with Toledo."

About an Organization.

Irving B. Hiett's views on the organization of real estate dealers were solicited by a Bee, and were given as follows:

"I don't believe that an organization of real estate dealers and business men generally will prosper. This might do if the organization was perfected as an improvment company to speculate in real estate for the money there is in it. My idea is for the real estate men to get together, organize quietly, without any demonstration whatever, for the purpose of systemizing the real estate business of Toledo. We should get as many of the real estate men enlisted as possible, and then hold meetings so often and consider whatever business may arrive. In this way we will be enabled to get a foothold, and once established, we can branch out afterwards."

A BIG MINING DEAL.

Schlesinger in the Duluth Field.

He Will Pay Big Money to Get a Start in the Valuable Ranges.

Duluth, Minn., May 31.—Ferdinand Schlesinger, who two or three years ago was the biggest mining and railway worker of the Menominee iron range or Northern Michigan, and who was at the head of the German syndicate called the "Schlesinger Syndicate," is now turning his attention to the new Mesaba iron range north of this city.

Mr. Schlesinger is now negotiating for a lease of the big Cincinnati mine, lying 45 miles back of Duluth, where considerably over 5,000,000 tons of soft Bessemer hematite has already been measured up "in sight." He is to pay a mining royalty of something like 60 cents a ton, and is to mine a minimum quantity of 500,000 tons of ore a year. This mine is the largest and best yet opened on the Mesaba range. Mr. Schlesinger and his friends are after more mines on the same range. They now own and operate the famous Chapin mine on the Menominee range.

GLASS FACTORIES CLOSE.

Chicago, May 31.—Window glass factories throughout the country shut down to-day for a long period. Usually the factories do not close down before July, but the manufacturers, at the recent national conference, decided to suspend operations a month earlier than usual in the interest of higher prices. Work cannot be resumed before September, and possibly not until October, and a famine of glass is not improbable if strikes do not interfere with building operations.

A CONTINUAL LAUGH

Is Oh What a Night at the People's.

Mattie Vickers Will Not Come Next Week, but Frank Mayo Will Appear Instead.

A large audience witnessed a first-class performance at the People's last evening. Chas. A. Loder is a show in himself, and when surrounded by such clever ladies as Maria and Edna Leigh, Mina Gennell, Ruby Lytton and Comedians Warran A. Ashley, W. R. Watters, Billy Clifford and Chas. E. Edwards, the audience can not ask for more. The music throughout is bright and catchy, and the dancing was an eye-opener to Toledoans. The peculiar steps that Loder don't know, his company is dead on to, and encore after encore was given them. Billy Clifford as Congress Waters was very funny, and Chas. Edwards was second only to the star as the Irishman. Chas. A. Loder's performance was delightful as the eccentric, simple, good natured German, Judge Pottgeiser. The Leigh sisters in the third act did the mirror dance gracefully. Everybody did well, and the company deserved the applause and many compliments showered upon them.

Change in the Bill.

Mattie Vickers was to have appeared at the People's next week in Edelweiss, but has cancelled, and it is with pleasure that Manager Brady announces the engagement of Frank Mayo on his great success, Davy Crockett, instead. Mayo will play all week, but will give but two matinees, Thursday and Saturday.

CORN AT A DOLLAR.

Excitement in the Pits in Chicago.

Market Reports from the Whole World.

What People Buy and Sell and How Much They Get for It—The Weather and Crops.

Chicago, May 31.—The May corn corner collapsed to-day and resulted disastrously to the manipulators.

Coster & Martin, who have been taking all the cash corn put on the market for several weeks, and at the same time squeezing the shorts in May, failed to-day and the price of May, which had been up as high as one dollar during the morning, dropped rapidly until it reached 50 cents.

The assets and liabilities of the firm are not yet known.

The Markets To-day.

The receipts of wheat since Saturday at Minneapolis and Duluth were 627,092 bus and at five other western points 325,470 bus. The export clearances since Saturday at four Atlantic ports were wheat 691,962 bus and flour to an aggregate of 875,000 bus. Export of corn 163,347 bus and of oats 48,911 bus. English markets open lower for wheat and dull, and firm and higher for corn.

It is a significent fact that the ocean stock of flour and wheat was decreased last week 2,496,000 bu., and in two weeks 4,456,000 bu. The aggregate stock is now 29,976,000 bu., compared with 42,707,000 bu. at the corresponding date in 1891, but last year the old countries had commenced buying in view of expected deficiency in their home crops.

The Weather and Wheat.

The bulletin of weather indications is not bearish and the extracts from the weekly government report are not bearish. A great deal of wheat has been and is now, too wet, and it is not doing well except upon the higher grounds. It is not yet the time for serious despair and croaking, but there is too much rain for the good of the crop, and the indications for the next day or two are unfavorable. In the northwest it is more settled and what wheat is expected to be sown, will be in the ground this week.

The Corn Corner in Chicago.

A year or so ago Deacon White, of New York, was the author of a corn corner at Chicago, which turned upon him and busted the gentleman. And now comes another ambitious firm, and has been afflicting corn dealers for weeks, and to-day bid $1.00 for No. 2 corn at Chicago. But this firm is also claimed to be busted. Such deals are like the old gun which "Sometimes when aimed at duck or plover Recoiled and kicked its owner over."

Man proposes, and corn disposes.

The visible supply of wheat decreased last week 1,158,000 bu. Corn increased 924,000 bu., and oats 313,000 bu. In the corresponding week in 1891 wheat decreased 799,000 bu., corn increased 659,000 bu., and oats 711,000 bu.

The wheat markets on this side of the Atlantic opened 1-2 to 3-4c higher than the close on Saturday, but on the announcement of a failure in Chicago all above the line. July had sold up to 83 3-4 at Chicago and broke to 82. Later prices improved and part of the loss was recovered. The premium for May above July wheat is wiped out and July is premium.

Corn for July and for fall deals outside of May has been well maintained. The May corn which sold at $1 00 closed at 50c.

In New York July wheat closes where it did Friday. July corn 1 3-8 higher.

In Chicago May wheat closed 1 3-4 lower, July 3-8 lower. July corn 1 1-4c higher. May oats 1-2c lower.

In Toledo the principal business in wheat was in cash and May, in adjusting the remainder of the open deals. The market has not been influenced by fluctuations in other cities, and prices close about as on Saturday; May and cash are 1-4 lower; June and July are the same, and August 1-4 higher. Mayopened at 92 1-2, sold up to 92 3-4 and closed at 92 bid. June sold at 90 1-2 first half hour, 91 bid; July sold at 87 1-2 and closed at 87 1-8 bid; August sold at 85 5-8 and closed at 85 3-8 bid.

Cash wheat was in fair request; No. 2 soft sold at 92 1-2 to 92 3-4 and closed at 92 bid; No. 3 soft at 89 to 88 1-2, and 89 1-2 in L. S.; No. 4 soft at 84; smutty at 85.

Corn, No. 2 at 50, July at 47 1-2, No. 3 at 48 1-2, No. 4 at 46. Oats, No. 2 about 32 1-2, No. 2 white about 35. Rye No. 2 about 81.

SIXTY HOUSES BURNED.

Disastrous Conflagration in Moscow.

Rumors that Nihilists Had Much to Do With the Fire—Several Arrests.

Moscow, May 31.—A destructive fire broke out here to-day and threatened for a time to sweep through the city. The fire department found it impossible to subdue the flames and save the property attacked as most of the houses were old and burned with great rapidity.

It was decided to endeavor to confine the conflagration and hasten the destruction of the burning district. This was done, the firemen devoting themselves to preventing the flames from extending. When the fire had burned itself out, three streets containing 60 houses were in ruins.

During the height of the conflagration a rumor was started that the nihilists were endeavoring to destroy the city. The police reserves were called out and considerable excitement prevailed. The police added to the panic by attacking the crowd which had gathered to witness the fire and driving the people before them by blows and abuse.

A number of persons were arrested but it was found on investigation that there was not the slightest foundation for the report and that the only disorder was that created by the police. The grand duke, Sergius, governor of the city, was personally present observing the operations of the firemen and also it is said, directing the police in their violent course toward the people.

BERT WALKER IS DEAD.

He Was Breathing His Last When Found

This Morning—Hale and Hearty Yesterday and Dead To-day—Fatty Degeneration of the Heart the Probable Cause.

Bert Walker, son of ex-Auditor W. T. Walker, is dead.

Everyone in the city knew Bert. He was but 18 years of age and weighed about 350 pounds.

Yesterday he was at church and was around town in the afternoon, seemingly feeling first-rate.

He went to bed at the usual hour in good health. About 2:30 this morning his mother thought she heard him breathing heavily and went to his room. He did not complain, but said he was all right.

She gave him a drink of water, and he turned over, going to sleep again. After 6 o'clock Mrs. Walker again went to his room and found him in the throes of death. Dr. Stewart was hurriedly summoned, but before he arrived Bert had breathed his last.

As a child Bert was as other children, no larger or heavier than other members of the family. He received a fall that is said to have been the indirect cause of his abnormal growth.

It is said that he was gaining flesh so rapidly, particularly within the last few months, that the doctors have said his death from fatty degeneration of the heart was merely a matter of time.

IN SKULL LAND.

A jolly old skull there was, low in the earth,
Deep down at the roots of the willow,
Who for years and for years in unchangeable mirth
Grinned up from his uncanny pillow.
And my spirit dived down to him one on a day
To question him where he was lying:
"Oh jolly old skull, why art grinning alway
While the world in the sunlight is sighing?"

And he answered my quest without any ado,
And his manner was queer as his matter,
While his jaws beat a rapid and tuneless tattoo
Like sticks when together they clatter.

"Oh why should a skull not be merry," he cried,
"Since it has no occasion for sorrow;
No longings of love, of ambition or pride,
No regrets for the past, no to-morrow?

"You despise me because I am lacking in brain?
Your disfavor awakens no sadness,
For gone with the pulp are its lingering pain,
Its frenzy, its fire and its madness."

Then my soul heard a chorus that spread far away,
Far away through death's underground regions
Like the sound which the Grecian ascribes in the play
To his countless batrachian legions:

"Our sons may have disgraced us,
Naught wreck we;
Our wives may have debased us,
Naught wreck we;
Our good deeds may be doubted,
Our honest names be scouted,
Our very memories flouted,
Naught wreck we!

'Here no false friends deceive us,
Glad are we;
No fickle sweethearts leave us,
Glad are we;
No gnawing wants distress us,
No tyrant laws oppress us,
No mumbling priests confess us,
Glad are we!"

And that jolly old skull of a man I once knew
Led this chaunt for my listening spirit,
As any old skull will obligingly do
For a soul that can listen and hear it.
—George Horton.
